3,000,000 Women To Pledge Support To Prohibition

FEDERATION TO OPPOSE REPEAL PLAN

Women's Club to Adopt Resolution at Convention In Denver This Week

10,000 TO ATTEND

Opening Session to Be Held on Thursday—Will Endorse London Naval Pact

DENVER, Colo., June 4.—(UP)—Three million American women will pledge their support to prohibition when 10,000 delegates meet for the 20th biennial convention of the general federation of women's clubs here this week.

Leaders among the delegates, most of whom will arrive before the opening session of the convention Thursday, said today the federation will go on record stronger than ever for the 18th amendment.

The prohibition resolution to be presented before the convention will declare there are "sinister influences seeking to undermine the efficacy of the eighteenth amendment and to render the laws for enforcement thereof ineffectual."

Against Repeal

The resolution also will say the "influences" favor repeal of the amendment and are making strenuous efforts to destroy the faith of the people of the nation in prohibition, and that such action is "contrary to the principles of our government."

Among other resolutions to be considered by the convention will be one endorsing ratification of the London naval treaty and the Pan-American treaty.

The convention also will be asked to give its approval to the naming of a mountain peak in Colorado after Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and to lend its influence to a proper celebration of the 20th anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

Mrs. J. D. Sherman of Denver and Washington, D. C., former president of the federation and a member of the Washington bi-centennial commission appointed by President Hoover, will ask the delegates

VESUVIUS ERUPTION SCARES VILLAGERS

NAPLES, Italy, June 4.—(UP)—Mt. Vesuvius was active again today, deafening explosions and frequent eruptions of incandescent cinders frightening the countryside.

The fiery display was visible over a wide radius through the night and during the early hours today. Prof. Alessandro Malladra, director of the Vesuvian observatory, suggested immediate construction of breastworks to prevent the flow of lava outside "ell Valley." The "valley" is a gorge often in the path of the lava stream as it flows to the southeast.

GRAF ZEPPELIN MAKING SPEED OVER ATLANTIC

Big Dirigible Expects to Reach Seville, Spain Around Midnight

HORTA, Azores Islands, June 4.—(UP)—The Graf Zeppelin was reported passing over the Island of Flores at 6 a. m. E.S.T. today.

The Island of Flores is the most westerly of the Azores islands, lying in latitude 39.25 north, longitude 31.12 west. It is approximately 1350 miles by air from Seville, the Graf's destination.

The Horta report would indicate the ship had traveled approximately 350 miles in the seven hours since its last previous report to Friedrichshafen at 11 p. m. E.S.T. last night. At that hour, the Graf's position was 38 degrees north latitude, 39.30 west longitude, or approximately 1700 miles from Seville.

The ship was making a speed of 70 knots, and was flying directly towards the Azores. If it maintained that speed, it should reach Seville around midnight tonight, Spanish time (7 p. m. E.S.T.) which would be better than Dr. Eckener's estimated 50 hours.

The flight across the ocean was being made without difficulty, and, judging from messages, the 23 passengers were enjoying the trip to the utmost.

"Northwesterly winds, weather clear, and our appetites good," one of Dr. Eckener's messages read.

Good tail winds helped the ship's five motors maintain a high average speed, and there were indications that the Graf Zeppelin might break its own record crossing in 55 hours, 24 minutes, for a distance of 4200 miles from Lakehurst to Friedrichshafen, established last year.

On the present voyage, however, Dr. Eckener will halt at Seville for two hours, 3500 miles from Lakehurst, then swing across the Mediterranean and over France to Germany.

THREE MADMEN FROM ASYLUM STILL SOUGHT

Ten of 13 Desperadoes Are Captured By Police in Michigan Towns

ONIA, Mich., June 4.—(UP)—With all but three of the 13 madmen who yesterday escaped from the state hospital for the criminally insane here, back in custody today, the manhunt which was carried on for 24 hours was ended.

The three men still at large are thought to have escaped in an automobile which was stolen early today at Butternut. Tracks of the car, with three men in it, was picked up at St. John, where it was headed south. The machine bears Michigan license number 729-335.

Three At Large

The three men still at large are Roy A. Wynkoop, 47, Henry Vaden, negro, 29, a murderer, and Gerald Badgley, 20.

Two men were captured yesterday a few hours after the 13 desperate men overpowered guards and fled from the hospital. Three were taken last night and early today three more including John Campbell, alleged ring leader, were captured near Orleans. The men tried to escape but stopped when deputy sheriffs fired over their heads.

Mohamed Latif, 35, from Battle Creek, was captured yesterday.

ORTEGA HIGHWAY DIRECTORS MEET

Directors of joint highway district No. 15, including Orange and Riverside counties, met today in the supervisors' room at the court house here and adopted a resolution for assessment of the two counties and the state to raise $225,000 for financing construction of the first section of the Ortega highway between San Juan Capistrano and Elsinore.

The resolution placed an assessment of $100,000 against Orange county, $50,000 against Riverside county and $75,000 against the state, the money to be used for grading and improving six and two-tenths miles of the road, between Hot Springs canyon and Morrill canyon, which is in Riverside county. There is a fair road from that point into Elsinore.

136 MOTHERS ARRIVE IN FRANCE THURSDAY

PARIS, June 4.—(UP)—The American gold star mothers who have been ill since arrival in France were improved today and only four out of 394 visitors remained in the hospital. They were improving rapidly.

Another group of 136 mothers will arrive at Cherbourg Thursday. One of the coming group is Mrs. Sarah Rogers, of Seattle, Wash., whose two sons are buried in France. She will visit their graves at the Oise-Aisne and Somme cemeteries.

Belasco Kin Happy As S. F. Postman

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—(UP)—"Of course I'm proud of David, but our paths are different. I have lived happily as a postman and I hope I shall die so."

Thus spoke today Sollee Belasco, younger brother of David Belasco, world famous theatrical producer and playwright, in celebration of 41 years of faithful service as a San Francisco postman.

"I have never yearned for the profession my brother has shown such genius in," remarked the little grey-haired man, whose resemblance to the dean of the American stage is startling.

FOREST FIRES BLAZE THROUGH CANADA LANDS

Five or More Persons Are Believed to Have Been Killed By Flames

WINNIPEG, Man., June 4.—(UP)—Forest fires swept through new areas of timber land with renewed fury today as increasing winds removed the temporary check brought by light rains in the past 24 hours.

In a score of widely separated sections of the Canadian northwest the flames destroyed thousands of acres of virgin timber. Five or more persons were believed killed, several settlements and small logging camps were burned and two towns were threatened with destruction.

Refugees who found their way to safety reported relatives and friends missing and it was feared the final death toll may be high. Many of the outlying residents told of narrow escapes from death when they remained too long in the danger zone, fighting the flames which destroyed their homes.

From Port Arthur, Ont., and Dymont, Ont., came reports that the flames crept up to the very borders of the towns. Every home in Dymont was evacuated and women and children were taken from Port Arthur, a town of 3500 on the northwest shore of Lake Superior.

The little railroad settlement of Larson, Ont., 80 miles west of Port Arthur, was reported practically destroyed by forest fires that came upon it from three sides. The Canadian National railway's depot, section men's dormitory and three other buildings were said to have been burned.

New fires were reported almost hourly and hundreds of rangers and volunteers fought to check the more serious blazes.

MRS. OWEN FAR IN LEAD OVER FLORIDA RIVAL

Daughter of Commoner 8000 Votes Ahead of Dean, Wet Candidate

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 4.—(UP)—Representative Ruth Bryan Owen appeared certain of renomination in her race with DeWitt Dean, a wet, as returns from yesterday's Democratic primary came slowly in.

At noon today she had a lead of more than 8000 votes in the fourth Congressional district. The vote was Owen, 10952; Dean, 2076.

In the third congressional district, former governor Sidney J. Catts, prominent for his anti-Smith stand in the 1928 presidential election, was trailing Congressman Thomas A. Yon. Incomplete returns gave Yon 9287; Catts 6038, and Mayor Harvey Bayless of Pensacola 1232.

The two congressional races featured the off year primary in the state. Congressmen in the state's other two districts were unopposed.

The campaign of Mrs. Owen, daughter of William Jennings Bryan against Dean was an out and out wet and dry fight, with Mrs. Owen running as a traditional dry and Dean favoring repeal of the 18th amendment.

BASEBALL RESULTS

CHICAGO, June 4.—(UP)—Babe Ruth hit his 18th home run of the season today in the seventh inning of the New York Yankee-Chicago White Sox game. He hit into the lower deck of the right field pavilion scoring Reese and Lary ahead of him. Cecil Caraway was pitching.

Witnesses To Accident Say Boy To Blame

Declare Driver of Auto Apparently Did Not See Approaching Car

TED C. OHMSTAD, 21, prominent Garden Grove youth, was instantly killed at 9:50 o'clock Monday night, when his new roadster crashed head-on in a Santa Ana-Orange street car, operated by Earl Matheney, motorman.

Death was instantaneous, eye witnesses declaring that they were of the opinion that Ohmstad never knew that the car was bearing down on him and that he never did see it.

Several witnesses were of the opinion that the youth, driving south on North Main street, his car almost in the center of the tracks, was watching occupants in another car, also travelling south, which was closer to the curb and that his machine struck the street car before he knew the car was anywhere near him.

Alone In Roadster

Ohmstad was alone in the roadster at the time of the accident. His skull was fractured and his neck broken.

Matheney said he saw the car coming and tried to stop the street car when he realized the youth was not watching where he was going, but that the wreck was unavoidable as far as he was concerned. He stopped the car within a few feet.

Mrs. Bella Melton, of 509 West Sixth street and K. D. McLeod, of 940 East Almond street, Orange, in the front compartment of the street car at the time and who saw the accident. Both declared that the boy made no attempt to get out of the way of the car.

Inquest Tomorrow

The body was removed to the Smith and Tuthill funeral parlors where Acting Coroner John Martell will hold an inquest tomorrow afternoon, he said. He was at the scene of the accident a short time afterward and took charge of the body.

B. A. Hershey, city motorcycle officer took charge of the car. Roy Roepke, motorman on street car No. 203, which meets the other car at a switch a block away saw the accident, he reported.

Judge Agrees Murder Justified

MILL VALLEY, Calif., June 4.—(UP)—Judge Paul Helmore answered the bedside telephone at his home here this morning.

"Say, Judge," said an angry voice, "this is Clarence Fox. A roomer at my boarding house woke me up at 5 a. m. and asked me what time it was. I'm going to kill him alright, but do you think they will hang me for it?"

"Probably a case of justifiable homicide," the judge answered sleepily. "By the way, what time is it now?"

"It's five-five, Judge."

"Five-five, A. M. Well I'll be—"

GRAHAM STORY IS DOUBTED BY AIR OFFICIALS

Tale of Mechanic in Oklahoma Garage Scouted By Flyer's Wife

ELK CITY, Okla., June 4.—(UP)—The story of a man who claims he is Maury Graham, noted Western Air Express air mail pilot who disappeared with his plane in a storm near Las Vegas, Nev., last January, was being investigated here today. Western Air Express officials at Los Angeles discredited his claims and Mrs. Maury Graham at Los Angeles doubted his identity.

The man, employed as a garage mechanic here said he escaped death when he jumped in his parachute to safety as the plane went into a spin over the Utah line east of Las Vegas January 9.

The mechanic said he walked to a Ute Indian reservation near St. George, Ut., where he spent two months in the Indians' care. He told of later returning to Los Angeles and informing Western Air Express officials he "was through" because he was tired of "too much publicity."

The local man's story was questioned in all important details. He claimed a "brief plane" had picked him up at St. George and had returned him to Los Angeles. A wide hunt over the entire area at the time by Western Air Express failed to find any conclusive trace of Graham. Mrs. Graham had had no communication with her husband since he disappeared.

The claimant has been here for two or three weeks. He appears to be about 39 years old, is six feet tall, weighs around 175 pounds, is blond, reveals a deep scar on his cheek and a bullet scar on the left breast below the heart.

Finkle Asserts He Condemned St. Francis Dam

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—(UP)—The foundations of the St. Francis dam were condemned by him as early as 1924, Frederick Finkle, hydraulic engineer, testified today in the suit of Ray E. Rising to collect $175,000 damages from the city of Los Angeles for the loss of his wife and two children in the St. Francis dam disaster in 1928.

Finkle, testifying for Rising, said he again visited the dam in 1927 and again expressed the opinion that its foundation was weak.

He was one of a number of men called in rebuttal to the city's contention that a slight earth shock caused the collapse of the dam.

More than 375 persons were killed and property damage in excess of $5,000,000 was done when the dam went out.

START CAMPAIGN ON CURRY RE-ELECTION

SACRAMENTO, Calif., June 4.—(UP)—The campaign of Representative Charles F. Curry for re-election from the third district was officially launched today following a testimonial dinner last night under auspices of the Sacramento County Republican Central committee.

Republican leaders and committeemen from the six counties comprising Curry's district, Sacramento, Napa, Yolo, Solano, San Joaquin and Contra Costa, paid tribute to Curry's service in Washington.

Curry was formerly secretary of state of California, county clerk of San Francisco, and state building and loan commissioner. He was first elected to congress in 1912.

Chicken Theft In Anaheim Reported

Twelve Rhode Island red chickens were reported stolen from the place of Mrs. M. Peckenpaugh, who resides one and one-half miles from Anaheim on Route No. 2, some time last night, sheriff's officers announced today.

The theft is the first chicken theft reported here in several weeks.

DEFIANT AT HEARING OF SENATE BODY

Fiery Bishop Waves Crutch and Tells Sen. Walsh to "Issue Your Subpoena"

SESSION ADJOURNED

Two Committeemen to Lay Question of Refusal Before Entire Group

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(UP)—Bishop James Cannon, jr., told the senate lobby committee today it was "none of the committee's business" to whom he gave the unaccounted-for $48,000 contributed by E. C. Jameson, New York insurance executive, for use in the 1928 anti-Smith campaign.

More defiant than during yesterday's hearing, the Methodist dry leader shook his crutch in excitement and cried "Issue your subpoena" as he persisted in his refusal to answer questions relating to his activities during the campaign.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, acting as chairman in the absence of Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, said privately he intended to lay the question of Cannon's refusal to answer before the committee for a decision.

Can't Proceed

Walsh and Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, the only committee members present at the hearing, admitted their inability to proceed against the bishop with three committee members absent.

Although they plan to let the full committee decide later what would be done in the case, there was less indication today that the committee was desirous of proceeding against him for contempt of the senate.

Cannon had claimed the support of Caraway in his refusal to answer, citing Caraway's statement at Little Rock that the committee lacked authority to compel reply inasmuch as Cannon had not been subpoenaed.

Bishop Warned

Walsh warned the bishop his refusal might be considered a penal offense, to which Cannon replied that he "considered the committee's assumption of authority as an intolerable infringement upon the rights of American citizens."

Cannon mopped his perspiring brow as he turned aside inferences of improper conduct contained in the questions of the committee.

He declared he acted as a private citizen when working for the defeat of Alfred E. Smith in the south, insisting the committee had no right to ask a citizen about his political activities. He, likewise, declined to tell what he did with $5000 he got from the Methodist board of prohibition, temperance and public morals for anti-Smith work.

Session Adjourned

The bishop denied he worked with C. Bascom Slemm, former secretary to President Coolidge, in collecting money which Jameson turned over to him. He denied the implication drawn by Blaine that Jameson's money was not his, but was collected by Slemm.

DICKINSON LEADS IN IOWA CONTEST

DES MOINES, Ia., June 4.—(UP)—Almost complete return from the Iowa primary election increased to more than $2,000 votes today the lead of Representative L. J. Dickinson over Gov. John Hammill, who conceded the Republican senatorial nomination to Dickinson yesterday.

Tabulation of votes from 2,364 of the state's 2,434 precincts gave Dickinson 137,036 and Hammill 105,650. Lund and Payne, the other candidates for nomination, were shown to have 40,442 and 13,028 votes respectively.

In the Republican contest for nomination Dan W. Turner, with 204,819 votes, was easily the winner. Ed Smith, his nearest opponent, polled 100,985 votes.

WOMEN'S CLUB OF NATION TO HOLD CONCLAVE

to aid in fostering reverence "for one of the greatest figures in history."

No Fight Planned

Mrs. Sherman said today the commission would not attempt to fight directly the attacks made by certain modern authors on the character of Washington but would seek to make the people of the nation realize he was a kindly and great character beloved by all and without whose effort this country would not have been possible.

Equality of the sexes also will be discussed during the convention sessions, Mrs. Sherman said. She believes sex lines should be effaced and women's clubs transformed into clubs for men and women, with both working together for the common good.

Mrs. Sadie Orr-Dunbar of Portland, Ore., chairman of the public welfare department of the federation and a member of President Hoover's welfare conference, agreed with Mrs. Sherman and said she intended to advocate the study of industry by the federation so to include men, as well as women and children.

Artz In Race For Supervisor Post

Charles O. Artz, business man of Tustin, very definitely threw his hat in the ring for the big fight coming up for nomination for supervisor for the fifth district. Artz today took out nomination papers.

Completed nominating petitions were filed yesterday by W. C. Jerome, county auditor; J. C. Johnson, county treasurer; Willard Smith, supervisor, fourth district, and G. W. Engle, justice of the peace of Orange township.

Creek, was arrested by city police at Owsoso, where he was found on the streets and Hobart Erickson, 30, of Ironwood, sentenced on a charge of murdering his brother, was caught when he went to a farmhouse and asked for food.

Another Taken

The farmer notified Sheriff Francis M. Waldo, of Mont Calm county, who overtook Erickson on a road. He made no effort to evade arrest. Erickson was the second fugitive Sheriff Waldo captured.

The meekness with which the convicts surrendered was surprising to officers, who had expected the men to take desperate measures to prevent capture. The fact none was armed with a firearm, however, did much to bring about easy surrender, it was thought.

Court Notes

Four persons were fined in the city police court yesterday on charges of overtime parking. They were: Thomas Lambert, Paul Jackson, G. W. Thouppe and L. R. Appleby. Each was fined $2 with the exception of Appleby, who was fined $1 for parking in front of the post office building at Third and Sycamore streets.

James Smith, arrested for vagrancy, was in police court yesterday, where he was given a 30 day suspended jail sentence.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS SPEECH BY BOLIVIAN

Santa Ana Rotarians were given an opportunity at their meeting in St. Ann's Inn yesterday to learn about the progress of Rotary in the land where, according to the speaker's humorous characterization, the movement has reached its highest plane.

J. L. Tejadass, of La Paz, Bolivia, speaker, introduced his remarks by observing that Rotary in its short history has reached high standards of co-operation and international understanding, and that in Bolivia, where his own club is located in a city at an elevation of some 14,000 feet, it certainly has reached the top of the world.

The evidence of the value of Rotary ideals in international as well as in local affairs was presented in a story of the recent difficulty between Bolivia and Paraguay. In a battle during that difficulty, a number of Bolivians were taken prisoner by the men of Paraguay, and their friends at home desired to send them funds to preserve their comfort and health while they were held in captivity. How to send the money to an enemy country was a problem, but it was solved by having the funds transferred by means of the Rotary club of Rio Janeiro, which promptly put the assistance into the hands of those for whom it was intended.

"Rotary has developed rapidly in Bolivia," said the speaker. "It has become a common meeting ground for projects in behalf of the common good. It is a center of the civic life of the cities in which clubs have been established."

Bolivia is a land of mystery, strange to the outside world, because of its lack of an opening to the sea, which prevents many tourists from becoming acquainted with it. Tejadass was especially appreciative of the fact that Harry W. Lewis, who was an interested listener to the speech, had spent some time in Bolivia on his recent trip to South America.

Bolivia is the second largest producer of tin in the world, and the speaker called attention to the fact that this should bring about close relations between his country and the United States, where a great part of the tin is used. Both in mineral deposits and in agricultural possibilities Bolivia is rich, and only awaits further development to give it a prominent place in world affairs. The people are warm friends of the United States, confidently believing that the people of this country are devoted to ideals of justice and liberty, and Tejadass maintained that better acquaintance and fuller understanding will promote closer relations which will be beneficial to both nations.

The program yesterday was handled by William H. Spurgeon, Jr., chairman of the committee on international service. The occasion had added interest by reason of the presence of Mrs. Tejadass, who found pleasure in her first visit to a Rotary club meeting in America.

Next week's meeting promises to be another of exceptional interest, from the preliminary announcement by W. A. Taylor, chairman of the day, that his committee has secured State Traffic Officer Biscuit as the speaker, to present problems connected with the traffic developments in our state.

BUILDERS HOLD NIGHT MEETING IN FULLERTON

Over 100 members of Builders Exchange organizations of Orange county met last night at the Foster Sand and Gravel company at Fullerton for a joint meeting and enjoyment of one of the best programs of the day.

The barbecued dinner was served under the moon to the builders. A round table discussion on Builders Exchange work was held, with George Israel, manager of the Pasadena club, taking an active part. The program was arranged by A. L. Foster, of Fullerton, while R. C. McMillan, newly elected president of the Santa Ana group, presided.

The first number on the program was a soprano solo by Mrs. Edward W. Green, of Long Beach, accompanied by Mrs. Ruby Parkinson, of Long Beach. Roy Foster, brother of the host, offered a cornet solo, while Howard Livingston gave a Hawaiian guitar solo, accompanied by Mrs. M. E. Livingston. A seven piece orchestra from Gardena furnished music throughout the evening.

After the musical program, six riders from the El Rodeo Riding club performed many stunts with their horses. The riders were G. M. Callen, Ben Williams, John Wagner, A. B. Moody, C. H. Chesley and E. P. Burney.

Allison Honor, of Santa Ana, was awarded the attendance prize offered by the Santa Ana Cabinet and Picture company.

Police Offices Receive Manuals

Santa Ana police officers have received their new police manuals, ordered several months ago, and today were instructed by Chief of Police L. C. Rogers to use them.

Frank Lutz, desk sergeant, has been ordered to distribute them to the officers, and each officer is instructed to read his manual and study it.

The manual teaches all the rules and regulations of the department, together with much useful information to the officer in making arrests and serving legal papers.

BISHOP CANNON IS DEFIANT AT SENATE PROBE

The questioning will be resumed at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

After the meeting, Walsh and Blaine admitted they had reached an impasse in Cannon's examination. Senators Borah, Republican, Idaho, and Robinson, Republican, Indiana, have flatly refused to attend committee meetings, although the presence of either would comprise a quorum and enable the committee to proceed.

Chairman Caraway, who went to Arkansas to deliver a commencement address, indicated in a statement there that he has doubts about the power of the committee to pursue the inquiry, although he was one of the leaders in the movement to require Cannon's presence.

It, therefore, appeared likely the matter would not be pressed at least for the present.

BURGLARS RANSACK ORANGE RESIDENCE

ORANGE, June 4.—Two burglars whose tastes ran from dresses to matches and cookies ransacked the home of S. Clarke at 425 West Palmyra avenue between the hours of 7 a. m. and 5 p. m. yesterday.

Chief of Police Richards listed the loot as follows: Five dresses, one coat, one kimono, one Eastern Star gold pin, two other bar pins, string of beads, book of stamps, box of matches and sack of cookies.

Tracks left by the burglars were those of grown men and not those of boys, Richards declared. Entrance was made by using a wire to lift the hook on a screen door. The tracks indicated the men came to the Clarke property from an orange grove.

A group of Italian laborers working on a construction project near Fullerton have made arrangements to be near the great diva, it was learned this morning, when Ray Smith, well known Legionnaire of Anaheim and Orange county, had occasion to visit the construction camp.

Knowing that Smith was connected with the Legion, the Italians eagerly told him of their intention to hear the prima donna.

CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL DAY IS OBSERVED

Observance yesterday of Confederate Memorial day called together many Santa Ana representatives of Southern families who, assembling at 9:30 a. m. in the Spurgeon Memorial church, proceeded in a body to Fairhaven cemetery, there to lay their floral tributes on the graves of some 25 Confederate veterans of the Civil war.

Arrived at the peaceful "God's Acre," a short but interesting memorial service was conducted by E. C. Martin, who dwelt upon the ideals of those who had battled for a lost cause. After the many wreaths and garlands had been distributed, the group returned to this city, where arrangements had been made for a picnic luncheon in Birch park.

Mrs. Ray Stedman headed the committee of members from the Emma Sansom chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, in charge of the tables, which were speedily spread with the best which southern cookery could offer. There were between 50 and 75 persons to share the picnic feast, including half a dozen Confederate veterans.

CHAMBER GOLFERS CLASH TOMORROW

Chamber of Commerce golfers from every part of Orange county are scheduled to compete for five trophies at the tournament of the Associated Chambers of Commerce at the Santa Ana Country club tomorrow. It is the first event of its kind ever staged by the Associated, but indications are that practically every chamber and farm bureau affiliated with the Associated will be represented. Following the play, which will start at 1 p. m., there will be a stag dinner in the clubhouse at 6 p. m.

The handicaps and other details of the tournament are being handled by the recreation committee of the Associated, the chairman of which is Rosa Shafer of Tustin and the secretary, G. C. Macleod of Balboa.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

The fact that you have managed to live through the past few days of heartache and paralyzing grief is a prophecy of something more beyond. The something more is the fact that you have brought you to this hour will not desert you now. Your opinion is correct. That of your own strength you might not be able to face the days just ahead, which look so barren and meaningless, but in the power which he will give you will be able to go bravely on.

Bear in mind the fact that you hold in your hand the peace and joy of your dear one in Paradise. Because you strive to do your best for him, and because you are happy to wait while you finish the work you have to do.

COUNCIL SEEKS WRIT TO FORCE BOND DELIVERY

That there may have been irregularities in the proceedings for the acquisition of property for widening of East First street, from Main to the Santa Fe tracks, was revealed today, following the issuance by Judge G. K. Scovel, yesterday, of an order citing Margaret Esau, city treasurer, into court, at 2 p. m., Friday, June 13, to show cause why she should not deliver acquisition bonds for $66,963.45 sold recently by the city to Redfield, Van Evera and company.

The petition of the city council for issuance of the writ disclosed that in a letter to the council on May 5, 1930, the city treasurer advised that she had declined to deliver the bonds on the ground that the proceedings were irregular. She cited as one of the irregularities failure of the resolution of intention to refer to specifications on file for all details and for the estimated expense of the acquisition.

Miss Esau contends that the omissions invalidated the proceedings because property owners in the district were not given the notice required by the constitution.

CHAMBERLIN FILES FOR STATE OFFICE

The campaign of former Senator Harry A. Chamberlin, of Los Angeles, for lieutenant governor, was formally launched in Orange county today, following the filing of his list of official sponsors with County Clerk J. M. Backs.

The three persons who will sponsor Chamberlin's candidacy in this county are Attorney Joe C. Burke, of Santa Ana, former United States attorney for Southern California and a former member of the state legislature; Charles D. Brown, of Santa Ana, public administrator and coroner of Orange county; and Otto Haan, prominent automobile dealer of Santa Ana.

Chamberlin was one of the veteran members of the state legislature at the time of his retirement. He served two years as a member of the assembly and 12 years in the senate.

Local Briefs

Rolla R. Hays jr., of the Hays Life Insurance agency here, delivered a one-hour lecture to the senior commercial law class at the high school yesterday, on the fundamental principles of life insurance. Hays used Chamberlin's "Theory of Investment" to illustrate the talk, heard by the class of 50, which is under the direction of A. M. Becker.

J. W. McCormac, for 16 years owner and director of the Orange County Business College, of this city, has opened a new secretarial school in the McCormac block, at North Main and Church streets, Santa Ana. McCormac has been a resident of Santa Ana since 1909 and has been actively engaged in the educational field since that time. According to Mr. McCormac the new McCormac school will be one of the most, if not the most, modern business training schools in Orange county.

THOMAS DOUGLAS—Thomas J. Douglas, 82, a resident of Santa Ana for the past 18 years, passed away at his home, 502 South Parson street, on Tuesday. Completion of funeral arrangements is being held in abeyance pending the arrival of a son in Chicago, Ross H. Douglas, who left that city today for Santa Ana.

Mr. Douglas is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sarah L. Douglas, two sons, Ross H. of Chicago, and William L. of Los Angeles; and three daughters, Mrs. Nellie C. Fullerton, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Emma Penn and Mrs. Sadie L. Barger, of Santa Ana.

NO NEW CASES OF PARALYSIS SINCE SUNDAY

No new cases of infantile paralysis have been reported to the health department since Sunday, according to a statement today by Dr. Sutherland, county health officer.

Recent cases in the county are now under quarantine, two of them in Santa Ana, records of the health department reveal.

Dr. G. J. Telfer, Southern California representative of the state board of health, was here Monday consulting with Dr. Sutherland on the situation, and also discussed with the physician infantile paralysis conditions in other parts of the state.

Dr. Telfer urged, as has Dr. Sutherland on numerous occasions, that parents exercise reasonable precaution to prevent spread of the disease. Dr. Sutherland commented on the necessity of parents not exposing their children by permitting them to attend large gatherings at which their attendance is not necessary. He advised that children be kept at home as much as possible.

Dr. Sutherland has prepared a statement giving the symptoms of infantile paralysis which he will mail to many parents in the county after school has closed, he said.

Following are the cases of record: Marcella D. Moss, 5, 1309 Francis street, Fullerton; Eunice Oswald, 6, 292 S. Lemon, Orange; Rita Holz, 8, 1125 Mary street, Placentia; Lois Brunemeier, 11, 148 Princeton street, Placentia; Robert N. 4, 122 E. Palmyra street, Orange; Edith Barton, 3, 1-2, 120 Yorba Linda, boulevard, Yorba Linda; Marian Doty, 12, 402 W. Walnut, Santa Ana; Mrs. P. L. Crump, 26, 1115 E. Third, Santa Ana.

LIGHT TESTS TO BE RESUMED HERE

Tests on the speed of light, launched in a mile long tube on the Irvine ranch across from the county airport about a year ago by Dr. A. A. Michelson, of Chicago university, will be resumed by the scientist on or about June 16, it was learned here today. Dr. Michelson's experiments were halted during the winter because of his ill health.

James Stokley, scientist of Washington, D.C., revealed the fact that Dr. Michelson will return to his work, shortly after he registered at the Hotel Maryland in Pasadena. Stokley came to California to observe the work being done by Dr. Michelson.

LONG MISSING HEIRS CLAIM HUGE FORTUNE

NEW ORLEANS, June 4.—A Fortune of about $263,000,000 is apparently waiting for its real owners, in New Orleans. Those happy mortals are supposed to be the Italian relatives of a former Italian immigrant who went to the States near the middle of the last century and was lucky enough to discover a gold mine. This report is creating tremendous excitement and many illusions among all the Italians bearing the same name as the dead millionaire.

He is supposed to be a certain Fernand Culotta of Cefalu, in Sicily. Culotta went to the States in 1838, and five years later, in the company of his Italian comrade,

Glorioso, he struck gold and became a millionaire. When Culotta died in 1872 he left the gold mine and a deposit at a bank of about $60,000,000 which as a result of compound interest now amounts to $263,000,000. For some years Culotta had written to and helped his three brothers, then living in Cefalu (Sicily) and at his death, since no relatives of Culotta were in America, the property of Culotta was managed by his friend Giuseppe Glorioso pending the tracing of heirs. Apparently a communication inquiring about the heirs was sent to the mayor of Cefalu, but he did not believe the story of such a great fortune was true, and simply answered that none of the relatives of Culotta remained in Cefalu. This was technically correct, since they had moved to Palermo. As a consequence they did not hear of the windfall and did not go to New Orleans, nor ask the Italian authorities to make any move. The story of the lost fortune and the search for the heirs was brought here by a steamer captain, who on account of his trade often visited New York and was himself a Culotta. A brother of the late Fernand Culotta went to New Orleans, and while he did not succeed in getting the property for himself he did make a fortune of his own. Twenty years ago he returned home confirming the story of the great undivided fortune waiting for the heirs. So gradually all have begun to enter claims and their number is increasing every day. One hundred and fifty have already been counted. One of them is a waiter in a Naples restaurant and he has announced that if he succeeds in getting his share of colossal fortune he will build a statue of Mussolini at the entrance of the Palermo harbor as big and imposing as the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor.

HANSEN

HANSEN, June 4.—The Savanna school picnic will be held in Anaheim park June 6. A way will be provided for all the patrons of the school to attend. On Wednesday the seventh graders entertained the eighth grade at an all day outing at Anaheim park. The mothers of the pupils of the seventh grade assisted in arranging for conveyance and the luncheon. The pupils of the seventh grade paid all expenses of the swimming pool and treats. The eighth graders this year are Phyllis Burch, Marie Eckert, Mary Hein, Charles De Voe, Tom Harris, William Mrowfke, Guadalupe Orasco, Jesus Rodriguez, Thomas Stump, Charles Reguezo and Robert Hylton.

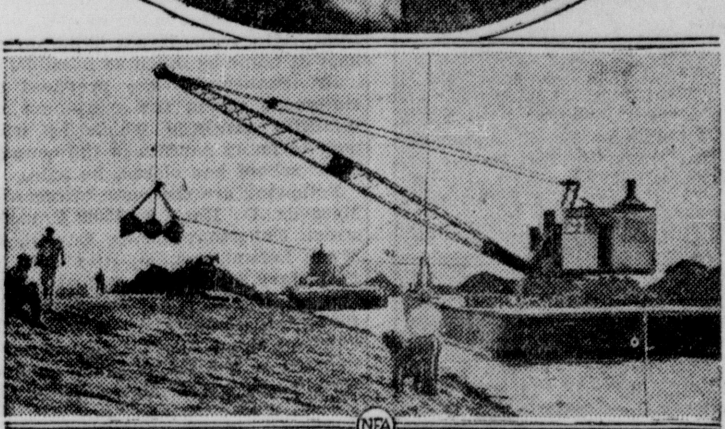

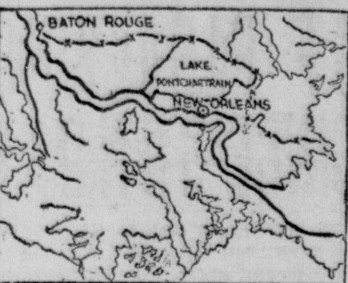

Renetta Hansen, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hansen, has the measles. Mrs. L. E. Lukins was pleasantly surprised Friday when an aunt, Mrs. Kathrine Powell, of Portland, came to visit her. She had not seen her aunt for 18 years. Mrs. Burgener, Mrs. Lukins' mother, and Mrs. John Elkins, her sister from Sawtelle, accompanied her aunt. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pitzer and children, who have been living near Modesto for several years and are on their way back to Oklahoma, their old home, are visiting relatives in this community. They spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Bowman and this week they are at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morgan, where they are detained as two of the children have the measles.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ledbetter, of Bellflower, visited Mr. and Mrs. Mart Nordstrom Sunday. Mrs. Nordstrom and daughter, Georgena, spent one day last week with Mrs. Herbert Birt in Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Lesley Bennett, living on the Ralph Shearer place, entertained recently, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Turner, of Glendale, at a chicken dinner and in the afternoon drove to Huntington Beach.

MAN BEHIND THE JOB

Major Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of U. S. army engineers, who is now directing the government's $325,000,000 flood control project, is shown above. The map shows the Bonnet Carré spillway, designed to save New Orleans in time of floods by diverting the Mississippi's torments harmlessly into Lake Pontchartrain. Similar spillways are planned to protect lands further upstream. The picture below shows work on a levee in progress.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, June 4.—Guests in the Steve Indig home last week were Mrs. Charles Geahl and Mrs. H. Napas, of Monterey Park, and Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Indig, of Los Angeles.

Members of the seventh grade of the Washington school were guests at a skating party Thursday evening, when their grade mothers, Mrs. H. Russell and Mrs. Richard Frost, entertained in their honor. They were accompanied by Louis Zimmerman, teacher. Mrs. Dora Linke, seventh grade teacher, was unable to be present on account of illness. Refreshments of cake and punch were served throughout the evening to the forty pupils present. In farewell to Miss Cecilia McCullough, kindergarten teacher at the Washington school, Mrs. Paul Stemple, grade mother, assisted by Mrs. G. F. Walker, entertained the pupils of the kindergarten and their mothers at an informal party Thursday afternoon at the school. The affair was a complete surprise to the honoree. She was presented with a silver bag by Superintendent E. R. Berry on behalf of the mothers, as a token of their esteem for her.

Home made ice cream and cake were served at the close of the afternoon. Those sharing the farewell courtesy were Mrs. G. E. Sutton and daughter, Evelyn, Mrs. E. M. Jackson and daughter, Luanna, Mrs. Ed Kennan and daughter, Lelia, Mrs. J. Welch and daughter, Betty, Mrs. Omdro and daughter, Juanita, Mrs. J. Leimer and daughter, Myrtle, Mrs. C. Ragio and daughter, Jean, Mrs. P. J. Stemple and son, Paul, Mrs. G. F. Walker and son, Jimmie, Mrs. H. Peabody and son, Donald, Mrs. Edna Forneo and son, James, Mrs. P. H. Goodell and son, Bobby, Mrs. Jack Halns and daughter, Mary; Mrs. U. R. Phillips and son, Bobby, Mrs. I. S. Kenworthy and son, Buster, E. R. Berry, Frank Barrows, Mrs. E. B. Foster and Mrs. J. E. Taylor.

Mrs. Minnie Williams entertained with a silver tea Thursday afternoon for members of the Woman's Relief corps in her home on Greenwood street. Choice roses were used to decorate the home. The afternoon was spent in sewing carpet rags for the old soldiers at Sawtelle.

Guests of Mrs. Williams were Mrs. Robert Carey, Mrs. E. L. Journigan, Mrs. C. A. Journigan, Mrs.

Chief Of Police Starts Drive On Light Breakers

Chief of Police L. C. Rogers this morning declared war on boys who are breaking street lights throughout the city.

"At Sixth and Olive, the city can't keep a light, it seems," he said this morning. "We have received complaints from all over the city of boys shooting and breaking lights and we have had all we can stand of it," the chief remarked as he outlined a plan to capture the offenders.

"Those arrested are to be prosecuted to the full extent of the law," Rogers said, indicating that he did not want to show leniency to any of the boys in the future.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, June 4.—Charles Kistler of Lemon street, and M. Chamberlain returned Saturday from two weeks visit with relatives in Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Gipson and Miss Margaret Morris, of San Bernardino, spent the week end at the F. Morris home. Miss Morris will return to La Habra at the close of the school season at San Bernardino to make her home with her parents and will complete her school work next year at Fullerton high school.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Roberts, of Los Angeles, are newcomers to La Habra. They are making their home on West Ocean avenue.

C. V. Smothers was removed to the Fullerton hospital Sunday for medical care. He was taken violently ill Friday evening at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Walker will spend their vacation this week at Exeter and other points in the northern part of the state. In connection with Memorial day the adult classes of the Methodist church decided to plant trees and shrubs in memorial to departed members.

The permit for trees will be presented to the city council at the regular meeting and further plans will be worked out accordingly.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Higgins, of Cypress street, are erecting a $5000 home on their avocado ranch in La Habra Heights.

W. A. Stewart of the Canadian mounted police, and Ernest Hunt, of Los Angeles, have been spending several days at the Harley Sutton home. Stewart is on a leave of absence due to injuries sustained in a recent gun battle with outlaws.

Mrs. M. K. Fisher, who has been very ill, is improving and able to be up again. She has as her guests, her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Calabrese, of Redwood City, and another daughter, Mrs. William Duncan, of Lexington, Mo., who will spend the summer here. Miss Sally Reynolds, of La Habra Heights, left the last of the week for Chicago, New York and other eastern points.

NEW CITY HALL IS SUGGESTED IN PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, June 4.—Suggestions for a city hall for Placentia; first steps taken on re-valuation of property by the city assessor; complaints from a delegation from the merchants' division of the chamber of commerce in regard to peddlers; complaints from the sanitary board in regard to covering up manholes, these were some of the matters considered by the city council of Placentia at the regular meeting Monday evening.

The suggestion of a city hall for Placentia came from Councilman Andrew Ipsen, who stated that as long as the city was paying rent for a fire house and a city office, the money might as well be put into a permanent building for the city. Other members of the council agreed that the time had arrived to begin thinking of a city hall which would contain city offices, a jail and a fire house. It was decided to look into the matter and see what other small cities had in the way of a city hall.

Twelve members of the merchants' division were present, and with Tom Pickerill as spokesman, entered a complaint against peddlers in the Mexican section who sell groceries at the same price merchants pay for them. Many of these peddlers show soldiers' exemption papers and those who do not pay the small license fee of $2 per day or $3 per quarter find it no drawback. While necessities were sold at cost, luxuries on the other hand were sold at twice their real value, it was said. After some discussion it was decided that the local post of the American Legion be asked to form a committee to investigate the claims of these peddlers with exemption papers, and Andrew Ipsen and A. C. Schallies were appointed to confer with City Attorney Albert Launer on raising the license tax.

Officer Barnes asked that something be done about scales, signboards and slot machines on the sidewalks, and he was told to have them removed.

SPRINGDALE

SPRINGDALE, June 4.—Visiting day was observed at Springdale school and some of the children took advantage of the chance to spend the day in other schools. Juanita Wentzel, Mary Kettler and Marguerite Peters visited in the Huntington Beach schools.

Mr. and Mrs. George Crane had as their guests Sunday a friend, Don Elwell, of Pasadena, and a friend, Harry Reed, of Glendale, and a friend.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Case, of Loma, were dinner guests on Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Schorle.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wentzel and daughter attended the annual L. O. O. F. picnic held Sunday in Wire Line canyon.

Mrs. Bateman is convalescing from a light stroke which she suffered the latter part of last week.

The Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Pope, of Garden Grove, and Mrs. Mabel Roberson visited Mrs. Bateman Tuesday.

Mrs. Nancy Graham, of Yuma, Ariz., a sister-in-law of J. J. Graham, visited Mr. and Mrs. Graham Monday in company with a niece, Mrs. Kitty Skinner.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Roberson entertained at dinner in their home Sunday, their guests being Mrs. Maude Farrar, of Huntington Beach, Mrs. Elsie Laubaugh and Mr. H. Rice, of Los Angeles, and

"What Brings Popularity?"

Famous Screen Stars say, "Lovely Skin"

The one thing which is irresistible... which wins the hearts of everyone... is alluringly soft, smooth skin.

Forty-five of Hollywood's foremost directors say, "The most captivating charm a girl can have—lovely skin." And the great screen stars agree.

To insure this precious asset of theirs 9 out of 10 screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap.

As fascinating Carmel Myers says: "It's so refreshing... and it leaves the skin so softly smooth."

Constance Bennett, Pathé's lovely star, finds this delicately fragrant white soap... "delightfully soothing!"

And petite Louise Lorraine says: "It lathers so quickly... and it's so soft to the skin."

So widely known is the screen stars' preference for Lux Toilet Soap that it has been made the official soap of dressing rooms of all the great film studios.

Have you tried Lux Toilet Soap? First sweeping Hollywood, then Broadway, and now the European capitals—104.

Realtor Chairman Entries for Beach Event On July 12

NEWPORT BEACH, June 4.—W. L. Jordan, prominent harbor district realtor and Balboa pioneer, is chairman of the entries committee of the 1930 tournament of lights, slated for Newport Bay, July 12.

Jordan was named chairman of this committee at yesterday's meeting of the chamber. H. L. Sherman had been named chairman of the operating committee two weeks ago and is already actively at work on the big lights carnival.

For the first time a commercial division will be in this year's "big parade" and this, with other features planned for the event, is expected to mark a new era of magnificence and grandeur in the tournament.

FERRY SERVICE IS URGED FOR NEWPORT

NEWPORT BEACH, June 4.—Another suggestion that a ferry service be installed between Balboa peninsula and Corona del Mar was made yesterday at a meeting of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce by A. W. Frost, district manager of the Southern California Edison company and a member of the chamber.

Frost, when called on by President Ferry, lauded the "pressing" being made by this community, and believed that a ferry service would attract many tourists and Coast highway travelers into Newport and Balboa who otherwise would see these communities only from the Coast highway.

Recently officials of the Motor Transit company, which runs busses between here and Santa Ana and other points, stated they would be interested in "using a ferry to Corona del Mar for their coast service if one was established."

A letter from John Knox, chairman of the harbor development committee of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, offering the cooperation of his committee and chamber in any harbor development program was read and Secretary G. C. Macleod asked to write the thanks of the harbor chamber for the sentiments expressed.

H. L. Sherman, chairman of the Orange show committee, reported that the Newport-Balboa exhibit had won a prize. Sherman and his committee were tendered a vote of thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Hudson and son, Herman C. Hudson, of this place. In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Reinus Owen and two boys, of Monterey Park, joined the party.

Monday, Miss Irma DeBarr and brother, Linn DeBarr, of Santa Ana, cousins of Mrs. Roberson's, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roberson.

Mrs. Dave Stuart and Mrs. Critten, sister and niece of Mrs. John Graham, were recent visitors in the Graham home. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Skinner, of Midway City, were recent evening guests of Mrs. Skinner's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Graham, and "500" was the evening's diversion.

THE FUMIGATOR By THOS. E. PICKERILL

The next great problem for the Government is to persuade the farmers to accept their relief.

The difference between the parties is not great, but the Republican who thinks Mr. Hoover is getting some fine breaks has a democratic neighbor who thinks he is just making them.

Having satisfactorily settled the food problem, the average modern movie star doesn't know where her next husband is coming from.

POLITICAL COCKTAILS
One of the candidates announced that if elected he would work "in full accord with the supervisors." And still he expects to be elected.

Sam Collins now has some opposition. Well, it wouldn't hardly be fair to let an office like that of district attorney go by default. As Napoleon said, a little conflict now and then is relished by the best of men.

Candidate Haynes says that a political power has grown up in Orange county that has gone unchallenged for many years. Somebody has been telling R. E. secrets, because he has seen only five years of it.

Twenty years' undisputed possession of real estate grants title to the possessor. Some of the officeholders in Orange county seem to think their offices are tracts of land!

CROSSING PLAN GIVEN BACKING OF BEACH C. C.

NEWPORT BEACH, June 4.—The Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce favors the project of an overhead crossing at the intersection of the Coast highway and Newport boulevard. Backing of a proposal whereby the city of Newport Beach, the county of Orange and the state will participate in the project to the extent of approximately $65,000 each, the state to also pay an extra $10,000 to widen that section of the highway, was given yesterday at a meeting of directors.

City Engineer R. L. Patterson attended the meeting and explained the engineering and other features of the plan, which would bring Newport boulevard from Costa Mesa and Santa Ana into Newport Beach over the Coast (state) highway. The boulevard parallels the Southern Pacific and it is proposed to acquire 30 feet of the present S. P. right of way, leaving 60 feet for the railway and giving a 70-foot road.

The present bridge over the old Santa Ana river would be eliminated, and the fact that it must be widened and raised anyway was a strong factor in the chamber's attitude. In answer to a question by J. P. Greeley, Patterson said that such raising and widening of the bridge would probably cost about $40,000. He also pointed out that of the total expenditure in the project, about $79,000 it would be for work inside the city limits.

The state is committed to the plan of paying for one-third of the work, plus $10,000, Patterson said. He and county and state engineers have conferred several times and jointly drafted the present plans, which, however, can be changed.

Traffic from Laguna Beach, San Diego and other South Coast points coming into this city would leave the Coast highway by a ramp on a five per cent grade to the overhead road.

The city's share of the work, it is said, would probably be paid by an assessment or improvement district, leaving out Newport Heights, Corona del Mar and probably Balboa Island.

CHAPTER XIX

It was Bonnie Dundee who mixed a dose of aromatic spirits of ammonia and George Berkeley who, staggering a little under her weight, carried the fainting woman to her unmade bed.

"Looks like a confession coming on, don't it?" Captain Strawn whispered as Dundee was hurrying past him to the bed.

But when Mrs. Berkeley opened her eyes and was jerked back to realization by the sight of Captain Strawn bending expectantly over her, she did nothing more illuminating than to scream, then close her eyes again, rolling her head distractedly on the matted pillows.

They left her in her husband's charge shortly, but in the hall Strawn beckoned to a detective holding patrol duty and stationed him in the little foyer between sitting room and bedroom, with instructions to listen at the not quite closed door leading into the bedroom.

As Dundee and Strawn were walking down the broad stairs the latter whispered excitedly: "Pretty good case against her, eh? Wickett took the flask of perfume. Crosby had given her to her room between 10 and 11. She says herself she told him to take it up, and I bet he shielded her. Perfume gone. Girl in struggle in the bathroom. And the old Tartar admits she slapped the girl around seven o'clock. Tried to lie about ordering the girl to go to her room and wait till she came up. Thought her husband would back her up, and nobody else would know. But George Berkeley's a white man, and no fool, either. Wouldn't let her get away with it, would he?" and Strawn chuckled.

They had almost reached the last step, and Dundee halted before answering in a low voice:

"There's something—a lot—that hasn't come out yet, Chief. Did you catch that about the other bottle of perfume? I'd give a good deal to know the truth about Doris's 'impudence'—exactly what she said to make Mrs. Berkeley slap her. As it is now, I can't see Mrs. Berkeley chasing the girl out of the house, brandishing the flask of Fleur d'Amour, till she caught up with her in the summerhouse, and then croaking the poor thing over the head with it, no matter how impudent Doris had been or how serious their quarrel was, if she was there when Mrs. Berkeley went up for the night."

"Huh!" Strawn snorted. "You don't doubt for a minute that she was there, do you? You proved that yourself with the mouth-print on the mirror. The struggle, too. And you saw what a spiffing little dame she is! Got like sledge hammers. My chest'll be sore for a week. No telling what a woman like that will do when she loses her temper. Not only was she sore at the girl for 'sassing' her, but she had it in for her plenty about Dick."

"Yes, I know," Dundee frowned. "But—well, what next? Clorinda?"

"Sure! If she gives us what sounds like a straight story as to how that scarf got into the summerhouse, I, for one, am pretty near ready to get out the bracelets for the old lady. Guess I ought to have checked up on the shoes she was wearing last night, to see if there was any of that perfume on the soles, but I didn't want to show my hand too soon. There'll be time for that later, when she's out of the way. The shoes are safe, all right. She can't dispose of them or so much time in benzoin without being caught at it."

They found the two girls, Mrs. Lambert and Crosby lingering at the breakfast table, though no one was eating. Lounging in the arched opening between drawing room and dining room was Detective Payne.

"Oh, hullo, Bonnie Dundee!" Giggled out, "Mr. Crosby has been telling us the most gorgeous story about a hunting trip in Africa. He bagged a lion and two tigers—"

Suddenly her voice broke, and with it her pretense at gaiety. "Have—have you found out who—who killed poor little Doris?" she pleaded.

"Not yet, Gigg!" Dundee answered gravely.

"I'd like to have a little talk with you, Miss Clorinda," Strawn cut in. "Come along to the library. The rest of you will please go to the room you call 'the little parlor' and wait till you're called."

Calmly and disdaintfully, Clorinda murmured "You'll pardon me?" Mrs. Lambert, then walked across the dining room with the leisurely self-possession of a queen or a mannikin.

Gigg watched her wide-eyed, a little brown fist pressed against her mouth. Then before her sister had reached the detectives she was on her feet and dashing after her.

"May I come with Clorinda?" she asked Dundee, something much deeper than childish excitement and curiosity in her eyes. Something oddly like panic fear.

"Go to the little parlor as you were told, Gigg!" Clorinda commanded sharply, her fine black brows drawing together in a frown. "I don't want—or need—your interference."

"It will be all right for Gigg to come along, won't it, Chief?" Dundee asked, turning his head so that only the chief of the homicide squad could see the slow, significant dropping of his right eyelid.

"But no shenanigans, young woman!" Strawn agreed severely, and Gigg linked arms with him, rubbing her bright head against his uniform sleeve before matching step with him as the four moved through the drawing room.

"Now, what's the kid butting in for?" Dundee wondered silently. "She's got something up her sleeve, knows something she's afraid Clorinda will spill."

In the front hall they came upon Wickett about to ascend the marble staircase, with a silver tray laden with letters.

"Just a minute, Wickett!" Captain Strawn halted him. "Mrs. Berkeley says that she gave you that flask of French perfume to take to her rooms last night. That right?"

"Yes, sir. I was just returning from the library, after showing Mr. Dundee to the telephone there, when Mrs. Berkeley called to me and gave me the flask. I took it upstairs immediately, sir."

"And where did you put it?"

"On Mrs. Berkeley's bathroom dressing-table, sir."

"Did you see anyone in your mistress's rooms?"

No, sir. There was no one in the sitting room or in the bathroom, the only two rooms I had to enter to dispose as I did of the perfume. I did not look into the bedroom, sir."

"And what time was this?"

"I can't say exactly, sir, but I believe it was between 10 and half-past."

After dismissing the butler, Strawn strode into the library. Gigg's little legs stretching themselves ludicrously to keep in step.

"Will you be seated?" Clorinda asked coldly. Then added sharply: "Don't sprawl all over Captain—ah—Strawn, Gigg!"

"Sitting on the arm of his chair isn't sprawling," Gigg corrected her sister cheerfully. "I want to be where I can choke him if he asks questions he shouldn't like this!" and she leaned over and encircled the austere detective's big neck with her little brown hands, then laid her flushed cheek against his and laughed wickedly. "You know, being only 15 does have its advantages. Think of all the gorgeous men I can hug before I'm 16 and grown-up, if I work fast—"

"Shut up, Pest!" Captain Strawn roared, but Dundee saw that he was vastly pleased, so pleased that he was not suspicious—as was his young subordinate of the child's real motives. "Now, Miss Clorinda, I've got a good many questions to ask you, and I advise you to answer them fully and truthfully, or—"

"Don't you have to tell her, say I may be used against you?" Gigg interrupted, bouncing on the chair-arm with excitement.

"Your sister is not under arrest—yet," Captain Strawn reminded her, "so I don't have to warn her against incriminating herself."

"But Gigg has warned her, and—the haughty Miss Berkeley is on her guard!" Dundee told himself, sending a narrowed, newly respectful glance at the child, who returned it with wide-eyed innocence.

"Miss Clorinda, when did you last see Doris Matthews?" Captain Strawn began, and Dundee, seated in a big chair with conveniently broad, flat arms, waited with pencil poised over his pad of notepaper to take down the answer.

Clorinda Berkeley had seated herself on a dark-red leather couch, placed under the big double window, which looked out on the west lawn, so that her back was to the light. She seemed to be insolently at ease, her beautiful long legs crossed, her hands clasped behind her head. But Dundee suspected her of clever forethought in so disposing of her hands that they could not betray her in moments of surprise or tense emotion. The lids were drooping over her magnificent black eyes as she drawled:

"For about 10 minutes just before 11 o'clock, I found her in my room when I went upstairs last night. She was laying out my night things, and waited to—help me undress."

But Strawn was not yet ready to trap her in a lie. "How did she seem, Miss Clorinda? Unhappy? Worried about anything?"

"Not at all! In fact, she was in an unusually happy mood. She confided to me that she was going out to meet her fiancé, Arnold. The chauffeur, you know."

"You did not tell her that Arnold would not be waiting for her, that his services had been required by the Benjamin Smiths?"

"Certainly not, since I did not know that fact until this morning," Clorinda answered coolly. "I went upstairs before my aunt and uncle asked for the use of the car."

"But Doris also told you, didn't she, that your brother had made her promise to meet him last night when the family was in bed?"

The magnificent pose was broken at last, Clorinda Berkeley gasped, started to rise, then sank back against the couch, her eyes closing so that the fan-like fringe of her long lashes made a startling contrast with the sudden pallor of her cheeks.

WORLD'S FASTEST FREEZING!
a Test of Real Significance to buyers of Electric Refrigeration

THERE are many freak tests—mostly meaningless—to which you can subject an electric refrigerator.

But the final and conclusive test is "What will an electric refrigerator do for me in my home?"

Kelvinator gave the answer in a recent nation-wide test embracing every state in the Union—under all conditions of climate and water supply.

Kelvinator's Super-Fast Freezing produced ice cubes in the amazing average freezing time of 80 minutes.

This is the fastest freezing time on record—from one-third to one-half the usual period.

Why You Should Demand Super-Fast Freezing

Never a shortage of ice on the hottest day or longest evening—that is what Kelvin-ator's automatic super-fast freezing brings you.

Only Kelvinator has the famous Iso-Thermic Tubes, which act as a cold plate under a special fast-freezing compartment, freezing ice and desserts automatically. And in Kelvinator de luxe models you get more ice, size for size, than in any other electric refrigerator.

Own a Kelvinator On Easy Terms

You can enjoy Kelvinator's many exclusive benefits without waiting a day longer. All Kelvinators may be purchased on easy terms through Kelvinator's ReDisCo monthly budget plan.

When you know that Kelvinator has shown the greatest percentage of gain in sales this year of any electric refrigerator, you will do well to investigate the reasons for the public preference. See the complete new line at our showrooms today.

CHRYSLER MOTORS PRODUCT

THE FINER

DE SOTO SIX

A BEST-SELLER FOR 22 MONTHS -NOW IMPROVED, LOWER IN PRICE

Six-cylinder automobile value reaches its 1930 peak in the finer De Soto Six—an even better car at a lower price than that famous De Soto Six which broke all sales records for a first-year car—and spread its huge success over 22 months without a single change in design, engineering or price. To improve a record-breaking car—to make a beautiful car more beautiful, a smart car smarter, a luxurious car more luxurious—and at the same time lower the price—that is real accomplishment. The improved De Soto Six has a new Steelweld* body which Chrysler Motors engineers believe to be the last word in body silence, strength and smartness, and a big advance in comfort and safety. The improved De Soto Six engine is bigger and more powerful—incredibly smooth and quiet—resulting in an even swifter and more thrilling performance. A record-breaking car, a best seller, a favorite for 22 months is now an even better car at a lower price.

OLIVE
June 4.—Mr. and Mrs. George Boehner were pleasantly surprised for their 15th wedding anniversary with a turkey dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walther Lieffers. Mr. and Mrs. Burst Low, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lieffers, Mrs. Emma Millbrook, of Glendale; Oscar and Clinton Lieffers and Edgar Boehner were the guests. Mrs. Millbrook had provided a beautiful wedding cake for the guests of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Foote and children, Wallace, Jane and Betty, Mrs. Josephine Lacey and Mrs. Margaret Topp, of Los Angeles, gathered for a picnic dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walther Lieffers Sunday noon. The afternoon was spent at the Anaheim city park, where the children enjoyed the plunge, while the men engaged in tennis. The evening was spent at the Lieffers home.

Mrs. Mary Gadeke, Mrs. Emma Millbrook and Mrs. John Chaud, of Glendale, motored to Fairhaven cemetery Decoration day and had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. George Boehner. In the afternoon they called on and had luncheon with Mr. and Mrs. Walther Lieffers.

Prof. C. Haven Smith, principal of the Orange union high school, visited St. Paul's Lutheran school Tuesday morning and spoke to the graduates on registration and the various subjects to be taken up at the high school. Eight pupils will graduate from St. Paul's this year.

MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, June 4.—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Yost and daughter, who are staying in Imperial while Mr. Yost is employed there, came Saturday evening to the home of Mr. Yost's brother, Harry Yost, at Midway City, remaining until Monday.

Walter J. Hill is away on a business trip and is expected to return within a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mansperger motored to Los Angeles Sunday where they spent the afternoon and evening with Mrs. Mansperger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morrow, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were entertained as dinner guests Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. J. K. McDonald. Mr. McDonald is president of the Home State bank of Huntington Beach.

Bishop Galloway, of Colton, arrived here Sunday as a guest in the home of Mrs. Galloway's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Woodson. He was accompanied by Mrs. Galloway and the children who spent the past week with relatives here. Mrs. Cecil Sauters, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Woodson, was also a visitor on Sunday prior to leaving with Mr. Sauters on a vacation trip to Yosemite.

Randall Scott, of the Randall Scott and Sons Shoe company of Midway City, his two sons and daughter are now located here, having moved the last of the week from Los Angeles to the duplex which is to be their home.

Carl Huyler is erecting a residence on Roosevelt street, Midway City, and upon its completion in about a month's time, his father who now lives on Jackson street, will live in it.

Kenneth Hazard returned Monday to his classes at the Huntington Beach high school, having recovered rapidly from a major operation performed 12 days before.

Roland Hazard, who came last week from Arizona to visit relatives, is at present with his grandmother, Mrs. Deacon, of Anaheim. Mr. and Mrs. Leon Smith, of Anaheim, spent Sunday with Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Thaurber, and brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Luff. Jack Smith, who has been visiting the Luffs since Memorial day, returned home with his parents.

A. A. Bennett, owner of the latest airplane completed by the Zenith Aircraft corporation of Midway City, is on his way here from Alaska, where he was called on business. Mr. Bennett went first to Seattle upon leaving Midway City, then on to Cordova and Fairbanks.

W. W. Warner and son, Carl Warner, motored to Los Angeles Sunday. Mrs. Warner, who has been visiting her mother, returned with them.

The model service station erected by Ray McCormick on the Huntington Beach boulevard in Midway City, opens for business on Wednesday. Four varieties of gas will be distributed and for the present Mr. McCormick will take full charge of the station himself.

Bridal Accessories

YOU who go down the bridal path this June probably know by now just how elaborately you can gown yourself this season.

You must, first of all, be demure. Secondly, you must be very, very feminine. Third, you must have a bit of elegance about your accessories.

I suppose the bridal veil is the most interesting accessory to most of you June brides. If you have lots of lace in the family, you can use it up that way. If you have even a bit, use it for the cap to which the tulle attaches.

But since many a modern young bride has her home, much less fine old lace stored away, you can be just as chic if you take a hand in your own headpiece and embroidery a little tulle coronet in crystals and pearls. Some of the sweetest and daintiest wedding veils have this type of cap.

You can take your pick whether you carry a little white kid or satin-covered prayer book, with its gold cross gleaming on the front, or an old-fashioned nosegay of orange blossoms, lilies of the valley and white orchids, framed by a ruching of the veil's tulle and with flounced streamers of the tulle. You can take the tiniest of little bunches of orange blossoms, back it effectively by lace paper, then tulle, and make it into a quaint, lovely bouquet.

You will perhaps walk a little more steadily to the Lohengrin wedding march if you have on the new bridal pumps. They come in a wide variety of gorgeous brocades, plain crepe de chine and in plain satins, though I think satin always makes your feet look larger. The newest brocades incorporate the orange blossoms in their rich pattern and finish the edges with the tiniest banding of silver.

Long gloves you just about must have this summer. Do choose plain ones, with little pearl buttons, for they are much more elegant than fancy ones and look so pretty under the tulle veil. The less they have on them in the way of stitching, the better they will look. You can allow your extravagant soul a lot of leeway in the bridal handkerchief this year. It is no wisep of a bit of lace they will show you, so don't expect it. Exquisitely fine chiffon hankies come man-sized, with the finest of lace edgings and a little lace monogram in the corner. They are pure dead white, or if the bride goes into off-white, they follow suit.

Pearls, I suppose, you will choose, as you cannot make a mistake in wearing pearls, for they are universally becoming. And since this is a formal year for brides, you will do well to look at some of the lovely crystal bracelets that come in smart new shapes. One will look very attractive over your white gloves. You can have one of the bracelets that combines pearls and crystals, if you want to match up your necklace. But it isn't necessary. Just keep everything white, and that is that!

Bridal gowns themselves choose various patterns, but each one is distinctly feminine. The short skirt, which had its innings at weddings as well as at every other occasion, never was in keeping with the solemnity of the marriage ceremony. Now the train has a proper setting on ankle-length skirts.

White satin continues to be a favorite for the wedding dress. Long sleeves and court trains are featured on the more formal gowns, and puffed sleeves and flared skirts, with or without the train, on others. Bridesmaids' gowns adhere as closely to soft cloud pinks and blues as the bride's gown does to white. Likewise, bridesmaids' accessories are every bit as true to the one color scheme. Slippers, hose, hats and necklaces match up with the dress. Blue and pink pearls and crystals are very popular.

The piquancy of the skirt that stands out like a story book illustration, short puffed sleeves and large hats that droop, mysteriously, add old-fashioned charm to bridesmaids' costumes.

Three Kinds of Poise For Kangaroo, Gorilla And Beautiful Women

By CHARLOTTE C. WEST, M. D.

A GRACEFUL carriage and an attractive bearing are impossible without poise. What is poise? Poise is the quality of being well-balanced. Poise is equilibrium. Applied to the human form it is that equal distribution of mental and physical forces which enables one to carry the body with ease, reposefulness, grace, and elegance.

To acquire poise and grace, the body must be held correctly in the erect posture. To stand properly the body must be held as tall as possible without rising upon the toes.

By this means the trunk is given its fullest length, all the organs are in position and do not interfere with one another, the head is held erect in such a manner that no muscles are strained, the chest expands easily and naturally, the abdomen is flat, and the back is flat.

TO stand correctly, to ascertain if the back is a perfectly straight line, a plumb line passed through the head at the crown would come out between the balls of the feet. All the weight of the body should be thrown, not upon the toes, not upon the heels, but upon the balls of the feet. The bust should be on a straight line with the balls of the feet.

We are supposed to stand and sit on our bones. They never tire.

The carriage of the Italian peasant is perfect, and this is so because her custom of carrying things on her head has developed in her a perfect line of gravity throughout her body. The two sides and the front and back are beautifully balanced, no matter her size or weight, and she is tireless under the heavy burdens she carries.

NOW if simply standing tires us, what is wrong? We are either leaning too far forward or too far backward. Because nine out of every ten are guilty of one or the other of these postures, women have been classified into three types: the normal woman, who carries herself correctly; (the following are not pretty designations, but they are in use as illustrative of unsightly human types) the gorilla woman, who throws her body too far backward; and the kangaroo woman, who brings all her weight forward.

In the gorilla type, the whole body is thrown out of alignment, and the plumb line, instead of passing through the center of the hips and between the knees, falls in back of them and comes out at the heel. Her shoulders are thrown back, and her abdomen is thrust out.

THE kangaroo woman does just the opposite. She throws her chest out and shifts her pelvis back so that the plumb line runs in front of her hip bones, in front of her knees. Often it passes out at the toes, and in some girls and women, this forward shift of the body is so exaggerated that the line falls in front of the toes.

Between these two extreme types there are many that are less pronounced, who resemble either one or the other. The exquisite flow, the sinuosity of graceful bodily movements, depending as they do, in the main, on supple muscles under perfect nerve control, is greatly assisted by the flexibility of the spinal column.

This, like the human foot, is almost awesome in its architecture. Each of its 24 bones is separated from its neighbors by a little cushion that is wonderfully strong and elastic. The torso, in order to conform in every particular to standards of beauty, must present a straight, flat, flexible back, a beautifully rounded full chest with strong, flat, muscular abdominal walls.

Unless you exercise daily, at least to the extent of holding and maintaining the proper erect position, the abdominal walls become flaccid very early in life, because they consist entirely of soft tissue. Throw the weight of the body where it belongs, flatten the abdomen, throw the chest out, hold the head erect.

This position is in itself an exercise and should be practised assiduously before a mirror in the privacy of one's room.

Believe in Signs

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

DICKIE and his friend Harry, who lived next door, were playing on the walk. Grandpa Eleanor, who sat on the porch knitting, heard Dickie say: "Oo, watch out there, Harry. You nearly stepped on that crack."

"Well, I guess I can step on a crack." "All right, you know what'll happen, and Mother said she'd make some sandwiches and we'd go on a picnic."

"Well? Anyway you're wrong. It's 'Step on a crack, break your mother's back.'" "No, sir, if you step on a crack it'll rain cats 'n' dogs. Don't you step on another crack, Harry. Don't you want any sandwiches and to go wading?"

Evidently Harry did, for the subject of cracks was dropped. But Harry was in an iconoclastic mood. He was two years older than Dickie, and had more courage to defy the oracles. He stepped on a crackly black bug.

DICKIE's high, excited voice instantly rose in protest. "Oh, there you go again! Don't you know any better than that? Now it WILL rain."

"Aw, that's just ants. It's just ants that you step on to make it rain. Anyway, I don't believe it. I've stepped on a lot of ants."

"You mustn't believe such silly tales, children," Aunt Eleanor called. "Bugs have nothing to do with rain. But you mustn't step on any more bugs. That might be a mama bug with some babies. I remember—"

Dickie tugged at Harry's arm. "Let's go down there," he pointed. Aunt Eleanor's "I remember" stories were too preachy.

Down by the street they had forgotten all about bugs and cracks and rainstorms.

"I WISH we had date sandwiches. What do you wish, Harry?"

"Oh, I dunno. I like bananas better. Say, is your mother going to take bananas?" "You bet ya. Bananas, and sandwiches and cakes and pickles and ice cream and—"

"Aw, I bet she isn't going to take ice cream. I saw her makin' baked beans. I don't like beans. I like bananas."

Suddenly Dickie excitedly shouted, "I know how we can fix on the bananas, and the date sandwiches and the ice cream. I mean maybe we can get ice cream cones. I know how to fix it to get anything we want."

"How?" Harry asked. "Dickie licked his thumb and thumped his fist in the other grimy palm. "Do that at every straw hat you see and if you get 100 you get your wish."

Grandpa Eleanor looked over her glasses a minute or two later to see two small heathens busily defying the fates by the thumb method.

SHE laid aside her knitting and went into the house. "Sally," she called, "I think it's awful the way you allow young Richard to believe in all sorts of silly signs. He and that boy next door are actually making hoodoo signs like young pagans whenever a man passes. It's supposed to bring them luck. I remember—"

Sally slid the baked beans out of the oven. "—when you did just as foolish things as that yourself when you were about six. And you got over it, didn't you?"

"But they are in earnest!"

"So were you!"

"I never stepped on a bug and then looked for the deluge," denied her aunt indignantly. "Now they're afraid it will rain because they killed a— a beetle or something. And they're making those signs so you'll have date sandwiches, and bananas, and ice cream cones on the picnic."

"Well, I wasn't going to, but I will. I was just wondering what to take. So you see it worked."

"Sally, I'm surprised. You're as bad as they are."

Sally went to the telephone to call up the grocery store. "Perhaps," she agreed. "Go out and tell them not to step on any more bugs, do, Aunt Eleanor. I don't want it to rain either."

How to Use Mirrors

MORE than any ancient bit of decoration, mirrors fit into the modern house furnishing scheme. For today's tendency toward cramped, often dark, box-like dwellings has brought the mirror into uses of which Narcissus little dreamed when he saw his image in the brook.

Mirror hanging has become a fine art, capable of creating illusions of space and light highly desirable in present-day apartments.

Doubtless the first purpose of the looking-glass will always be to tell a lady if her make-up is on straight and to assure a gentleman he really is the devil of a fellow he has always suspected.

But other purposes, far from incidental, have been devised by modern decorators and designers.

A mirror hung on one side of a crowded room will give that room a needed sense of spaciousness.

A MIRROR hung to catch the reflection of a bright bit of drapery, of dancing flames in a fireplace, or of sunlight streaming through a window will double the effectiveness of such cheerful details. Light reflected doubles the light shown. This is a point which the housewife confronted with the problem of furnishing a dark room will do well to keep in mind.

Another point worth noting about mirrors is their adaptability to a space which the use of fashionable but gaudy wallpaper often renders unsuited to paintings or prints. Wall mirrors never conflict with wall papers. The housewife with a flair for either the "covered" early American designs or for the daintily modern ones may go as far as she likes, either way, if she will "break" her wall space with mirrors.

Because of their adaptability to the home of today, mirrors are being made in the designs of every period from the severely geometric moderne to the ornate Venetian.

THE most recent development is the mirror of gold-backed crystal, or silver-backed amber glass, which imparts a mellow quality to the reflection.

Porcelain mirror frames are being imported from the potteries of Central Europe. Housewives fortunate enough to possess heirlooms of heavy old walnut picture frames are having them fitted with mirrors. The girandole, or convex mirror, popular in colonial America, is enjoying a revival. The convex mirrors of our forefathers which are being reproduced today were surmounted by a screaming eagle, a bow and arrow intertwined with a quiver and hunting horn, or such rustic motifs as a sickle, wheat shock, pitchfork and rake in gold leaf.

In addition to their traditional uses, mirrors now serve as table centerpieces, three-leaved bedroom screens and dressing table tops.

For years there has been a trend toward the increasing use of mirrors in every room of the house from kitchen to guestroom. This increased popularity has brought out their variety.

Last Roast of Summer

By MISSIS PHYLLIS

LET'S plan a dinner today. Not a party dinner. Just a good dinner for either Sunday or a week day. The sort of meal a hungry man would love to come home to. Better have all the roasts you want now, before the really hot weather rolls around, when your appetite calls for salads, cold meats or broiled sweetbreads with creamed potatoes.

Roast Veal With Dressing
Mashed Potatoes, Gravy
New Carrots and Peas
Bowl of Spring Salad
Berries With Cream

Mushrooms
Rolls
Coffee

TOO small a roast may dry out. So if you get one smaller than three and one-half or four pounds, you had best lard it well and put strips of bacon on the sides and over the top. A four-pound roast cut from the loin or leg roast is splendid. It is more expensive, however, than other cuts, and if the budget is low, better get a shoulder or chuck roast.

Sprinkle the roast with salt and pepper and rub flour over the surface. Some cooks prefer to wait until the meat is seared before sprinkling with salt and pepper, as the salt tends to draw out the flavor. Try both ways. Have the roaster hot and melt in a little shortening, butter or try out a little suet. Brown the roast on all sides in the roaster on top of the stove. Then pour over it a cup of hot water, put two or three strips of bacon over the top, cover closely, and put in a hot oven. Allow about a half hour to the pound to roast the meat so that it is well done but not falling off the bone. Veal should be especially well done.

DRESSING

Unless you have a pocket cut somewhere in the roast you will cook the dressing in a separate baking dish. Even if there is a pocket somewhere, it probably won't be large enough to hold much stuffing, not unless you pack it in pretty tight. And if you pack, you will find it hard to eat and hard to digest.

Cook one sliced onion in salted water until tender. Using the water as well as the onion, add as many bread crumbs as you want. The amount, of course, depends upon the size of the family and whether it is very fond of stuffing. A half loaf is, perhaps, a conservative estimate. Add poultry seasoning and sage to taste, salt and pepper. Add one beaten egg, and if you need any more moisture, add a little of the drippings from the roast. Put into a greased baking dish and bake about half an hour.

The amount of drippings you use will depend largely upon whether you want a rather dry dressing or a moist one.

MASHED POTATOES

Although everybody is supposed to know how to make fluffy mashed potatoes, there is a good deal of difference in the platters of potatoes brought to the table.

New potatoes are still at their best. If you boil them with their jackets on, you preserve more of the valuable salts and vitamins. But most cooks prefer to pare them and cut them and boil them in salted water. There are several advantages. It takes less time to cook them. They are whiter and look prettier piled up in the serving dish. And there isn't any skinning to be done at the last minute.

Cook them either way. Have ready a cup of hot milk, not scalded, but very hot. Put the potatoes through a ricer to be sure that every lump is out, add a little of the milk at a time, beating with a fork. Add enough milk to make them light and fluffy, and at the end add a bit of butter. Heap up in a serving dish and put a butter ball or square in the center of the mound. The secret of good potatoes is in their fluffiness, and the secret of fluffiness is a good right arm.

MUSHROOMS WITH ROAST

You could serve the mushrooms in the gravy and find them excellent. But if your family is really fond of mushrooms they will probably like them best served separately. Use large mushrooms and take off the stems. Wash and peel. Put a lump of butter in the top of the caps and broil under a hot flame or fry in butter in a skillet. Serve around the roast, garnished with parsley or small stalks of celery.

Any berries that are in season make a good dessert, with strawberries, of course, the favorite. Since the rest of the dinner has been rather heavy, the berries are really enough dessert, though cup cakes go well with them.

Orange Expected To Adopt New Building Ordinance

CITY COUNCIL TAKES ACTION NEXT MEETING

ORANGE, June 4.—Following submission of the report of a committee of contractors endorsing the adoption of a complete building code in Orange and recommending the Santa Ana building code and ordinance for this purpose, the city council yesterday afternoon considered the matter favorably but delayed action at the request of Councilman George Shoemaker, who moved that the matter be taken under advisement until the next meeting of the council, June 17.

The committee composed of H. O. Ehlen, plumber, and Ernest W. Gommel, F. B. Dale, Walter Duker, W. E. Stork and J. J. Hutchins, contractors, urged that an up-to-date code for regulation of building in Orange be adopted at once. Gommel, who was spokesman for the committee, declared that provisions for the code and ordinance would assure that the public would actually receive what they thought they were paying for. He pointed out that conditions had existed for some years where the public health was not properly protected, and in addition stated that the code would mean that contractors would know definitely what they were bidding on and what would be required. He stated that the recommendation was not made to keep out outside competition, but to protect the public, and that the contractors relied on the progressiveness of the council to take this important action.

Mayor W. Clement stated that he had been in several conferences with the contractors while the matter was being worked out, that he believed the code and ordinance should be adopted at once. Gommel stated that the ordinance they were recommending was one that had proved very satisfactory in Santa Ana, and that he believed it was better than the so-called uniform code that was adopted in some cities. He also mentioned the fact that it would be wise to have regulations in accordance with those of the closest neighbor, Santa Ana.

While building, plumbing, electric and plastering regulations will be provided in the code and ordinance recommended by the contractors, it was pointed out that one inspector could handle all the work at the present, and Frank Dale was suggested as a good man for the position. Costs of operation of the ordinance would amount to possibly a maximum of $335 over the gross receipts from licenses and fees, according to Gommel, who pointed out that it would be good insurance at that figure, and that the plan might be self-supporting. Better control of affairs would result from the selection of one man to head all departments, Gommel advised.

He also said Dale had the confidence and endorsement of all members of the contractors' committee. Fees for the contractors, according to Gommel, would be the same as those in the Santa Ana ordinance with the exception of plumbers, which he said the committee felt should be $50 instead of $100 with their bonds reduced to $1000 from $2000. Seven general contractors, two electricians, five plumbers and three plasterers would be effected in Orange by the code and ordinance, according to the committee spokesman.

"Building is not cheaper in Orange," Gommel declared. "The public just isn't getting what they think they are paying for. He also declared that the fact they were able to pick up the Santa Ana code and ordinance and adopt it with a few minor changes, meant a saving of thousands of dollars and many hours of labor and that a vote of thanks was due Santa Ana for the work that had been done in the past.

Mayor Clement expressed the opinion that the building ordinance was necessary and that action should be taken on this plan as soon as possible. He declared that the matter was up about a year ago but had been allowed to drop. The city will be zoned by the council to provide various districts in which certain regulations will apply.

K. E. Watson, who was present at the session, addressed the council on the subject, stating that regulations should provide for raising buildings from the ground as a protection from rot and termites. It was shown that this was included in the ordinance, which Gommel stated provided for public safety and meant at a very little added expense protection from costly repairs in the future in construction work.

Gommel invited council members and the public to attend any of the meetings of the committee, which meets usually every Monday evening.

Bicycles in many colors are appearing in London.

South Africa's shortage of native labor is growing.

Improvement Body Of Olive Arranges Clean-Up Move

OLIVE, June 4.—June 14-21 was set as cleanup week at the regular meeting of the Olive Improvement association. Since many members had forgotten the date and failed to attend, it was resolved that henceforth the secretary should send cards of notice to all members.

The committee in charge of the water rates reported that the company would deliver a report to the committee in the near future. The association will ask the Auto Club of Southern California, as well as the county supervisors, for a boulevard stop sign to be placed on the Canyon road before entering the Olive-Anaheim boulevard, coming from the south. Approaching from the east all view of the southern approach is cut off and many narrow escapes have been witnessed at that corner.

Owners of vacant lots will be asked to remove all rubbish and weeds before cleanup week. The secretary was instructed to ask the Santa Fe to level the railroad crossing on the Olive-Anaheim boulevard.

The next meeting will be held the first Monday in July, unless otherwise announced.

FOOD MEASURE GETS READING AT BOARD MEET

ORANGE, June 4.—An ordinance presented for first reading to the city council in its session yesterday afternoon in the city hall with the recommendation of R. E. Smith, sanitary inspector of the Orange county health department, requires that all persons seeking to establish a food handling business shall be required to secure a permit from the city before the business license may be issued.

The provisions of the ordinance also require that lunch rooms shall not be permitted in pool halls or bowling alleys unless completely partitioned off. Penalties for failure to observe the ordinance, which was read by City Attorney H. L. Dearing, include a fine of not exceeding $100 or imprisonment of not more than 30 days in the city or county jail. The ordinance will go into effect 30 days from the date of its adoption.

Inspector Smith pointed out that the ordinance was designed to protect the public health and also to protect persons coming into Orange to enter the food handling business so that they would not lease a place that would later have to be extensively remodeled at great cost to comply with sanitary requirements. The examination, which will be made before a permit is issued, according to Smith, will show if the premises are in shape to be used. This will prevent persons from starting restaurants or lunch rooms in any kind of building without regard to sanitary conditions.

The ordinance applied specifically to restaurants, cafes, lunch counters or hot dog stands, and does not include markets, which are also covered by similar ordinances in effect in other cities in the county. During the discussion of the ordinance it developed that merchants are permitted to place displays on the sidewalks within two and a half feet of the property line, but that some of them are greatly overstepping this allowance. Smith reported that one market he visited last Saturday had a stand extending five feet on the sidewalk.

The ordinance also requires that all persons seeking to establish a food handling business shall be required to secure a permit from the city before the business license may be issued.

The provisions of the ordinance also require that lunch rooms shall not be permitted in pool halls or bowling alleys unless completely partitioned off. Penalties for failure to observe the ordinance, which was read by City Attorney H. L. Dearing, include a fine of not exceeding $100 or imprisonment of not more than 30 days in the city or county jail. The ordinance will go into effect 30 days from the date of its adoption.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY ORANGE LODGE

ORANGE, June 4.—Featured by the first official visit of the year from Mrs. Amelia Prather, president of the Rebekah lodge of California, the Rebekah lodge held election of officers at the regular lodge meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall Monday night. One candidate was initiated into membership at this meeting and Mrs. Prather was presented with a gift from the lodge. Several visiting officers were present for the occasion.

Mrs. Florence Evans presided. The election of officers was conducted, resulting as follows: Noble grand, Mrs. Helen Kroener; vice noble grand, Mrs. Neta Keuchel; recording secretary, Mrs. Nora Edwards; financial secretary, Mrs. Alice Shell; trustee, Mrs. Nina Cope; Clyde Bernheart was initiated into membership in the lodge.

Mrs. Fannie Barker, the incoming district deputy, presented Mrs. Prather with a waffle iron and electric lamp from the Ruby Rebekah lodge. Visiting officers were presented with bouquets by Mrs. Barker. The visitors were Mrs. Fanny Lacy, past president; H. Johnson, past grand master; of Pasadena; C. A. Palmer, past grand master; Mrs. Iddie Gould, past grand president of the assembly of Missouri.

Refreshments were served in the dining room decorated in pink and green.

ORANGE PHOTOS FOR EXHIBIT AT PARK ARRANGED

ORANGE, June 4.—V. D. Johnson, secretary of the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce and director of publicity for Orange county, was busy today arranging a photographic display to represent the city of Orange in the city exhibit section of the new museum and exposition building at Irvine park, which it is anticipated will be open to the public soon.

All cities in the county are to be represented in the photo section, according to Johnson, who stated yesterday that many would not be included unless they sent in their material to him at once. Delays on the part of many municipalities in getting this material into the hands of the publicity director may mean that they will not be represented in the exhibit unless prompt action is taken, he said.

The Orange section, which he was preparing yesterday, includes many interesting and beautiful views of public and private buildings, homes, industrial plants and other points of interest, including an unusually attractive view of the beautiful Plaza.

The photographs are mounted on swinging frames, which provide for mounting pictures or other material on both sides. The museum and exposition building will also include an exhibit of agricultural and horticultural products of the county as well as the exhibits of various articles manufactured in the county.

ORANGE

ORANGE, June 4.—Members of the Orange post of the American Legion will meet in the Legion hall on South Lemon street at 8 o'clock tomorrow night. Members have been notified of the meeting by Commander George H. Franzen and Adjutant Vernon C. Shippee.

The speaker of the evening will be Judge J. B. Tucker, of Santa Ana. Business to come before the post includes the report of the constitutional revision committee.

Wilbur Woods, of the George C. Woods dry goods store and secretary of the Rotary club, was in Los Angeles yesterday.

A. N. Townsend, of Eugene, Ore., is a visitor in Orange. The fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Kilgore was celebrated in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Bivens, 904 West Chapman street, Monday with a dinner served at 6 o'clock.

The color scheme was yellow. The anniversary cake was frosted in yellow and was the centerpiece of the decorations. Wooden gifts were given the bride couple in honor of the fifth wedding anniversary.

Guests were Mrs. A. G. Gates, Miss Rosalind Wagers and the bride couple and their son, Junior. Mrs. Gena Everett, of Los Angeles, has arrived in Orange for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Angeline Courtney, and her sister, Mrs. G. A. Gates. She will be a guest at the wedding of Lucille Hessel and Hart Wayne June 8 at the Christian church at 4 o'clock.

The Klutsum club met with Mrs. Ed Windolph, 144 South Pepper street, Tuesday. All the members were present, Mesdames Thoe, Starkey, D. M. Huff, Charles Pulley, C. A. McGill, L. E. Ralls, Mrs. Charles Pulley was the game chairman. A vegetable game was played with Mrs. Ed Windolph winning the prize.

A travelogue was taken by the members in which Mrs. C. A. McGill won the prize. Honeyuckle, sweet peas and gladioluses were used in decorating the rooms. A luncheon was served by the hostess.

The car of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Windolph was struck near Fuller Thursday evening. They escaped any injury but their car was damaged so that Ed Windolph brought them to his home at 144 South Pepper street.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Freiden, of 164 South Batavia street, a bride couple just returned from their honeymoon, were taken for a hilarious ride by their friends through the streets of Orange last night, making a special noise before the residence of Mrs. G. A. Gates, where a shower was in progress for a relative, who will become a bride on June 8.

The sixth shower for Miss Lucille Hessel, who will become the bride of Hart Wayne June 8, was held at the home of Mrs. G. A. Gates, 159 North Center street. Mrs. Lucy Richards, mother of the groom, was the hostess with her mother, Mrs. G. A. Gates. The rooms were decorated with gladioluses and sweet peas. Cards were fastened to the chandelier, which were followed from room to room by the honoree, who found a gift at the end of each cord.

Household ingredients were prepared in sample packages to be identified by the guests. The two Genas present, Mrs. Gena Everett and Mrs. Gena Morgan received the prizes in this guessing game.

Receipts were given to the honoree for the kitchen. Sealed messages were written with the date to be opened on them, some were to be opened the day after the wedding and others a year after the wedding and at various times as the guests indicated.

The guests were Mesdames C. J.

CLEAN-UP WEEK IN ORANGE IS SCHEDULED FOR JUNE 16; FIRE CHIEF ASKS CITY AID

ORANGE, June 4.—Officially designating the week of June 16 as Clean Up week, the city council yesterday afternoon went on record for cleaning up vacant lots and alleys in the city to eliminate fire hazards during the dry season, which is at hand. Citizens will be called upon to cut and burn the weeds and grass on vacant lots and gather up the trash around buildings in alleys so that it may be disposed of.

The action was taken following recommendation of Fire Chief Al Tomblin, who called to the attention of the council the fact that it was the time of year for the annual clean up campaign and that prevention might save great fire losses in the future. It was suggested that every effort be expended to finish the clean up by the end of the month so that the Fourth of July fire hazards might be materially lessened by removing materials that might become ignited by sparks from fireworks.

The methods used in the past whereby the street superintendent, C. C. Bonebrake, had charge of the work, notifying property owners to rid the lots of weeds and trash and doing the work for those who did not comply, assessing the costs against the property, were suggested as the proper procedure. Chief Tomblin warmly commended the past work of Superintendent Bonebrake in this regard. In connection with the clean up, he recommended the council that the fire department had only had three calls so far this year, none of which had required that the water be turned on. The chief declared that this was a record to be proud of and asked the co-operation of the city in lessening fire hazards.

15 EL MODENA STUDENTS WILL GET DIPLOMAS

EL MODENA, June 4.—Fifteen members of the class of 1930, graduating from the El Modena grammar schools, will receive their diplomas tomorrow night in impressive ceremonies in the auditorium of Roosevelt school, according to an announcement released today by Principal J. D. Hayes. The commencement exercises, which include class presentations, commence at 8 p. m.

The address to the graduates will be delivered by the Rev. Franklin H. Minck, pastor of the First Christian church of Orange. The Rev. Joseph Reece, pastor of the El Modena Friends church, will pronounce the invocation, while the diplomas will be presented to the graduates by Donald H. Smiley, clerk of the board of school trustees. The other two members of the board are Joe Hancock and Sylvester Marshburn. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Girls' Glee club, under the direction of Mrs. W. C. Armstrong, piano; Ruby Armstrong, violin; and Margaret Armstrong, flute.

Members of the graduating class are Hattie C. Arends, Caesar Diaz, Jessie Encinas, Myron Encinas, George Falls, Rafael V. Jaime, Freddie Lanfranco, Selvine Lopez, Harold Lundblade, Gilbert Peralta, Woodrow Payne, Roger E. Peralta, Gregorio Perez, Ezekiel Rodriguez and Grace E. Walworth. The class flower is the white carnation, colors are yellow and white, and the motto is "Onward ever—backward never."

The program, which is divided into two parts, the class exercises, consisting of the presentation of a newspaper known as Commencement Journal, and the graduation ceremonies, follows. Music, "Fleecy Clouds," by Beethoven, Girls' Glee club; class stunts, Commencement Journal, public notice, Ezekiel Rodriguez; local, Freddie Lanfranco; sports, Woodrow Payne; legal (class will), Harold Lundblade; society, Ralph Jaime; advertising, class members, and cartoons, Caesar Diaz; class prophecy, Hattie Arends and Grace Walworth; intermission; Graduation march by M. Greenwald; instrumental trio, music by Rubenstein; Girls' Glee club; invocation, by the Rev. Joseph Reece; address, by the Rev. Franklin H. Minck; presentation of diplomas, Donald S. Smiley.

INTERESTING TALK FOR ROTARY GROUP

ORANGE, June 4.—Rotary club members who attend the club session tomorrow at the Legion hall on South Lemon street will hear an interesting address. New Phone System Is Operating In Orange City Hall

ORANGE, June 4.—Providing increased facilities and better service, the new private branch exchange telephone system, at the city hall went into operation here yesterday. The new board has three trunk lines for increased service in connection with the city exchange, to handle incoming and outgoing calls, and seven stations in offices throughout the building. Prior to installation of the new system, there were just two main service lines, so the additional trunk means an increase of 50 per cent in efficiency. There is room on the board, according to Chief of Police B. F. Richardson, for at least one additional trunk line and five more local stations for service inside the building, when future growth makes such additions necessary.

Hessel, A. A. Dewey, Rose Friedman, M. E. Bivens, Linda McDaniel of Huntington Beach, Gena Morgan, Genelia Johnson of San Clemente; Margie Dick of Corona, Lillian Seavy, Euleta Kilgore, Isabelle Garland, Hazel Wayne, Angeline Courtney, Gena Everett of Los Angeles, Grace Cleveland, Thelma Parker of Chino, and Maria Bivens and Luberta Morgan.

Three-Act Comedy Given In Orange Hall Friday Night

ORANGE, June 4.—"The Heart Cry," a three-act comedy, will be given Friday at 8 o'clock in the Walther Memorial hall. Miss Betty George, of the Visel studio of Santa Ana, is directing the play. The Harrell orchestra, of Santa Ana, will play.

ORANGE BOARD FAILS TO ACT ON STREET JOB

ORANGE, June 4.—Discussion of the proposed street improvement program, which it had been anticipated would occupy the attention of members of the city council at the regular meeting yesterday afternoon, failed to materialize unless it took place at the closed session of the council which was held immediately following adjournment. The street committee, to which the matter had been referred at a previous meeting, was expected to make a report yesterday. Many matters of interest were disposed of by the council yesterday and others came in for discussion.

W. G. Hazen, secretary of the merchants' service bureau, a department of the chamber of commerce, presented the council with a bill for $30 as a balance due and unpaid for part of the decorations of the plaza at Christmas. This amount was in excess of the funds that had been raised through contribution of $400 by the council and $300 donated by the merchants for the purpose. Hazen was instructed to get an itemized bill and an O. K. of the chamber of commerce and take the matter up with the council again at the next meeting.

An amendment to the city advertising ordinance, aimed at free distribution of advertising, such as shopping news publications, was adopted as ordinance 316, providing that the license fee be changed from $20 per day to $20 per week. City Attorney H. L. Dearing, who presented the ordinance, advised that it served the same purpose, but made the ordinance read more reasonably. The amendment also changed the previous ordinance, passed in 1922, so that it would not apply to any business in Orange where a license was paid, or to property occupied exclusively by the merchant so advertising.

The street committee, composed of Ben Dierker and Clyde Watson, was appointed by Mayor Clement to attend a meeting of representatives of all city councils in Orange county, which will be held in the Santa Ana council chamber on June 12 to discuss the division of state gas tax money. It was pointed out in the discussion, following the reading of the invitation to the meeting from O. A. Krichbaum, of Fullerton, secretary of the Associated Councils of Orange county, by Clerk Paul Clark, that all this money is now turned over to the county and the cities receive none of it.

The application of Horace Inge, former motor officer, who has recently been appointed as a member of the California Highway Patrol, for two weeks pay in lieu of a vacation which he had earned, was taken under advisement until the next meeting. Chief Richards endorsed the application and stated that Inge had never taken his regular vacation and had a vacation coming to him.

Upon recommendation of W. J. Richardson, city water superintendent, the council authorized the payment of the balance of $2402.50 due on the elevated steel storage tank, which was not due until next October. It was shown that funds were on hand to pay this amount and leave a balance of approximately $3000 and the matter would thus be taken care of before the end of the fiscal year. The matter was carried on the motion of Councilman Dierker.

C. C. Bonebrake, city engineer, was granted a vacation of three weeks and leave of absence from the state, after his request for the same and a statement that he had no vacation last year and only one week the year preceding. Bonebrake plans to drive with his family back to his home in Kansas, returning the week of July 4.

William Delming, manager of the Southern California Edison company, appeared before the board in the interests of securing complete electrification of the city pumping plant and told the council that he had an offer for the old steam plant that is lying idle. Superintendent Richardson stated after the meeting that the price was $1200; which is considered good, as it is reported the equipment is obsolete and good only for junk.

Delming advanced the argument that complete electrification of the plant would mean a reduction of rates and a saving of approximately $300 per year, if the present gas engine pump is retired for use only as emergency equipment. The matter was referred by the council to the water superintendent and the fire and water committee. Richardson stated that he questioned whether the installation of the electric pumps would result in any net saving.

Reports of department heads were accepted by the council. Judge G. W. Ingle, of the city court, reported receipts of $408 during May from fines levied. C. C. Bonebrake reported fees of $35.50 from 12 electric, six plumbing, three sewer, five building and one billboard permits. He also reported as street superintendent that repairs had been made on North Tustin and North Glassell streets during the past month. C. H. Jeffrey, secretary of the library board, reported a balance of $3759.05 on hand at the end of the month, after expenditures of $795.46. Mrs. Myrtle Bay, city treasurer, reported that two bonds of $1000 each had been redeemed during the month and interest coupons totaling $750.

Orange Lodge Of Odd Fellows Will Elect Tomorrow

ORANGE, June 4.—Members of the Orange lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will meet tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the I. O. O. F. hall on East Chapman. Included in the business to be transacted is election of officers for the ensuing year. A great many candidates have been mentioned in connection with some of the offices, although it is possible that there will be some withdrawals before balloting starts, according to John Lee, one of the officers of the organization. Emil Rodieck is noble grand.

Scout Troops To Receive Badges At Session In Orange

ORANGE, June 4.—Members of the American Legion and Elks lodge troops of the Boy Scouts, together with those from the Olive troop, are to receive merit badges tonight at the court of award which will be held in connection with the regular meeting of the Elks lodge. The court will be under the direction of Harvey Riggle, district chairman. Musical numbers will be furnished by the Scout harmonica band under the direction of Mrs. Harvey Riggle.

REPORT SHOWS FEW ARRESTS IN PAST MONTH

ORANGE, June 4.—Citizens of Orange are unusually well-behaved, according to the monthly report of Chief of Police B. F. Richards, which was filed yesterday afternoon with the city council. Only 12 arrests were made during the month of May and but 11 citations were issued by the department.

The report follows: Citations issued, passing on intersection, 1; no operator's license, 3; speeding, 4; unnecessary noise, 1; unlawful parking, 2; motor left running unattended, 7. Arrests: Bad check, 1; Peeping Tom, 1; intoxication, 8; possession, 1; assault, 1.

Chief Richards, who is also tax collector, reports that during the last month a total of $339.24 in taxes and $135.59 in license fees was collected and turned over to the city treasurer.

TIRES ON FIRE TRUCK SLATED TO BE REPLACED

ORANGE, June 4.—Following presentation of facts and figures concerning the replacement of old worn out solid tires on the emergency pumper of the fire department by Al Tomblin, fire chief, the city council yesterday referred the matter to the fire and water committee, Ben Dierker and George Shoemaker, with power to act.

Tomblin pointed out that the solid tires on the 1200-gallon pumper had been in service for 10 years and were in such condition that they were no longer safe. Estimated cost of the change to pneumatic tires, 40x8 for the rear wheels and 30x7 for the front, was a low of $541 and a high of $591. The wheels of the engine will have to be cut down and changed to carry the rims for the modern type tires. The difference in price was in this cost, the additional $50 being the added cost if the work is done by the American-LaFrance fire engine company of Los Angeles. This company is experienced in the work and would change the steering apparatus with addition of necessary parts to make the new tires work to best advantage and would also furnish a $13,000 pumper of 750 gallons capacity for use while the old truck was laid up for the repairs.

Costs may be reduced by competitive bids on the tires, and the committee was instructed to get prices from several tire companies and secure the best deal possible. The matter was referred to the committee with power to act on motion of Councilman Lou H. Inge, after Councilman Ben Dierker stated that the present tires were really in very bad shape.

Upon inquiry from Councilman George Shoemaker as to how often the emergency truck was used, Chief Tomblin replied that he hoped they would never have to use it, but that when it was needed it was needed badly and at the earliest possible moment.

Other action taken by the council relative to the fire department included the appointment of O. W. Slason, of 239 South Glassell street, as a volunteer fireman to fill the vacancy left when Jack McCarty moved to Santa Ana recently. The appointment was made on a motion by Councilman Inge.

On motion of Councilman Clyde Watson, two weeks vacation was extended to the four drivers of the department, who, according to the report made by Chief Tomblin, were entitled to vacation. It was pointed out that other men would double up during the vacations so that there will always be two men on duty. Chief Tomblin was also authorized to take one week of his vacation commencing June 14.

C. C. Bonebrake, city engineer, was granted a vacation of three weeks and leave of absence from the state, after his request for the same and a statement that he had no vacation last year and only one week the year preceding. Bonebrake plans to drive with his family back to his home in Kansas, returning the week of July 4.

TALBERT

TALBERT, June 4.—Herbert Hamrol, of San Francisco, who has been visiting Mrs. Hamrol and relatives here, has returned north.

Mr. and Mrs. William Carter and son, Earl Carter, of Long Beach, were evening visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Talbert.

The house located on the Lamb ranch belonging to Mercoma, a Japanese rancher, was moved Wednesday to the W. T. Newland land.

S. E. Talbert, who had the contract for destroying the big 380-foot merchant ship which for years was on the sand bar at Balboa, has brought the last of the wreckage to the home ranch and is disposing of the separate parts.

Chili pepper growers are all busy with the transplanting of their young plants, rains, winds and worms having wrought havoc to some extent with the crops and causing added labor and expense. The county this week did extra work on the strip of highway just west of Talbert, where the peat dune was recently repaved and filled. More sand was put in at this time.

Mrs. Florete Gisher attended the homecoming services held at the Wintersburg church.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lacabanne spent Tuesday in Los Angeles.

STARS TO DECIDE NIGHT BALL TITLE Macias-DeCorsey Bout Tops S. A. Ring Card

'WILD MAN' IS FAVORITE FOR GO TOMORROW

The president of the National Night Baseball League—George Peterkin—is on the spot. He has had to make some tough decisions in the past. One confronts him now that dwarfs the others in its importance.

However he rules on the Anaheim protest of its 13-4 defeat by Santa Ana will arouse a storm of protest. There is just a bare possibility it may split the confederacy wide open. This isn't likely, although there is no denying that feeling on the matter is warm.

Peterkin has promised a speedy ruling and in view of Anaheim's unexpected victory over Whittier last night he can't delay action much longer.

Anaheim is in the streamer hunt for fair now and wants to know what is what.

If Peterkin orders the game replayed and Anaheim then beats the Stars, Anaheim will be TIED with Whittier. No wonder the upcountry boys are pouring the pressure to the press.

Their spokesmen have informed that Peterkin can do no else than rule for Anaheim.

They say it will be a "Santa Ana decision" by a "Santa Ana president" if Peterkin rules for the Stars. Peterkin's candidacy was launched by Santa Ana interests who have stood staunchly by him in all his other fights.

Santa Ana's are just as sincere in their opinions that Anaheim has no just complaint under the sun. Most of them think the upcountry complaint is just a losers' squawk. They can't conceive of a team beaten nine runs protesting over anything.

In the heat of the hour Santa Anans said they would decline to replay the joust no matter how Peterkin ruled.

Whether they would make good their threat is doubtful.

The sporting thing to do would be to take Peterkin's decision at face value and beat Anaheim all over again.

Victory would be ever so much sweeter in that case anyhow.

FOUST ENCOURAGES YOUTH

H. T. Foust, Orange County Athletic club promoter, believes in encouraging young boxers.

Ever since he opened the Delhi punch palace he has tried to dig up fresh, colorful fighters with which to intrigue his clientele.

His theory is that the public prefers hustling, even if inexperienced youth to old, slumping battlers with nothing but reputations.

Zenaydo Chavez, Tony Moreno, Joe Reese, "Wild Man" Macias, Jimmie Rivers and Romeo Lemon are just a few of the lads Foust nursed along until they became box office attractions in their own right.

The new disciples of the Delhi promoter's system will get a chance on the card here tomorrow night.

John Grigsby, a Fullerton boy, is one, Nick "Curley" Mestas of Placentia the other.

Grigsby, a fine looking lad of 175 pounds, will open the show against a colored light heavyweight from Los Angeles, James Williams by name.

Mestas will appear in the second bout. He is paired against Walter Long of Santa Ana, a middleweight of meager experience.

Foust believes both Grigsby and Mestas will develop. The fight game in Orange county needs young blood and in the two chaps who open the program Thursday the south-side promoter has a hunch he may find box office value.

WINTERBURN'S GOLF

"Chuck" Winterburn's golf hasn't kept pace with his progress in football. The chunky Stanford assistant to "Pop" Warner was a dub offer when he was tutoring Santa Ana high school in the gridiron science and collegiate atmosphere hasn't changed the readings on his scorecard.

Winterburn crashed home with an even 100 the other day when

SHARKEY LIKE GLOB ON SHORE LEAVE--WALSH

ORANBURG, N. Y., June 4.—One moment he was attacking furiously and his aspect was almost sinister. He looked the part of what he purported to be, a first class fighting man who is about to win the heavyweight championship of the world.

The next moment he was striking postures calculated to convulse the yokelry and his aspect was childish. He was in his element; he was showing how good he was, first, by the display of his ability and, second, by the inference of assumed nonchalance.

"See," his manner seemed to say, "I can beat this bum. I don't even have to try."

Still Gob At Heart
It has been many a day since Jack Sharkey drew his thirty-month in the navy and his success in the ring has given him distinction, noise, honor, money. But it never took the small boy out of his heart and so today we find him in a man's game impudently doing the things that small boys like.

He still is just a gob on shore leave. It was this innate characteristic that sent him out headlong to a propitious and tempt to out-slug Dempsey and yesterday it cropped up again in the midst of a serious workout, one of the last he will undergo before the Schmeling fight for the heavyweight title next week.

He didn't seem to box with the idea of sharpening his speed for a prize fight, now eight days distant; if he thought of the fight at all, it was merely as something of negligible importance compared to that of the immediate moment. He apparently was imbued with the notion that he must impress a training camp crowd with his superiority over Paul Cavaller, Johnny Grosso and King Solomon, a point that every body conceded.

Clowns With Colleagues
So he flung a lot of wild right hands at the first two—an old Sharkey fable—and any time they tried to carry the fight to him, he clowned by way of showing that their efforts were comical. This wasn't necessary; neither were the rights. As to the former, he is a good enough fighter in his own right to box his way out of any attack that Cavaller and Grosso might sponsor. As to the right hands, they represented sheer boredom with the routine of leading lefts. He apparently felt the need of doing something spectacular. The small boy in him was seeking expression.

Once, Cavaller beat him to the punch with a left hook to the stomach. In a moment, he was in a rage.

"All right," he grated on a whistling breath that was tinged with venom. For the flash of a split-second, he wanted only to repay Cavaller for this punch. Then abruptly he recovered his sense of proportion.

Compliments Partner
"That was a good punch," he conceded. But he spent the rest of the round trying to nail the sparring partner with a punch that would give him that small-boy satisfaction he felt the occasion demanded. Later, he admonished the ringsiders not to laugh at the glove-worn Solomon but, when he almost dropped the latter with a straight left, he gestured facetiously with what the French call a "moue," prompt-

Campbell In K. O. Victory Over Kirby

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—Marking his 14th straight knockout victory, Frankie Campbell, 179½, of Los Angeles, stopped Tom Kirby, 182, Boston, in the third round of their bout here last night.

Campbell took the first round by ducking Kirby's swings and giving the Boston boy severe body blows.

Flooding Campbell for a no-count with a random punch, Kirby took the second round after he felled Campbell with a blow which closed his right eye and sent him to the canvas.

A right hook to Kirby's jaw brought the hectic encounter to an end at the start of the third round.

ORANBURG, N. Y., June 4.—One moment he was attacking furiously and his aspect was almost sinister. He looked the part of what he purported to be, a first class fighting man who is about to win the heavyweight championship of the world.

The next moment he was striking postures calculated to convulse the yokelry and his aspect was childish. He was in his element; he was showing how good he was, first, by the display of his ability and, second, by the inference of assumed nonchalance.

"See," his manner seemed to say, "I can beat this bum. I don't even have to try."

Still Gob At Heart
It has been many a day since Jack Sharkey drew his thirty-month in the navy and his success in the ring has given him distinction, noise, honor, money. But it never took the small boy out of his heart and so today we find him in a man's game impudently doing the things that small boys like.

He still is just a gob on shore leave. It was this innate characteristic that sent him out headlong to a propitious and tempt to out-slug Dempsey and yesterday it cropped up again in the midst of a serious workout, one of the last he will undergo before the Schmeling fight for the heavyweight title next week.

He didn't seem to box with the idea of sharpening his speed for a prize fight, now eight days distant; if he thought of the fight at all, it was merely as something of negligible importance compared to that of the immediate moment. He apparently was imbued with the notion that he must impress a training camp crowd with his superiority over Paul Cavaller, Johnny Grosso and King Solomon, a point that every body conceded.

Clowns With Colleagues
So he flung a lot of wild right hands at the first two—an old Sharkey fable—and any time they tried to carry the fight to him, he clowned by way of showing that their efforts were comical. This wasn't necessary; neither were the rights. As to the former, he is a good enough fighter in his own right to box his way out of any attack that Cavaller and Grosso might sponsor. As to the right hands, they represented sheer boredom with the routine of leading lefts. He apparently felt the need of doing something spectacular. The small boy in him was seeking expression.

Once, Cavaller beat him to the punch with a left hook to the stomach. In a moment, he was in a rage.

"All right," he grated on a whistling breath that was tinged with venom. For the flash of a split-second, he wanted only to repay Cavaller for this punch. Then abruptly he recovered his sense of proportion.

Compliments Partner
"That was a good punch," he conceded. But he spent the rest of the round trying to nail the sparring partner with a punch that would give him that small-boy satisfaction he felt the occasion demanded. Later, he admonished the ringsiders not to laugh at the glove-worn Solomon but, when he almost dropped the latter with a straight left, he gestured facetiously with what the French call a "moue," prompt-

SAINT SENIORS WIN FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Retaining an honor they captured as juniors last year, the 1930 seniors won the interclass football championship at Santa Ana high school by earning a 13 to 7 decision over the juniors in the last of the interclass games yesterday.

The upperclassmen had a hard time downing the middleclassmen mainly due to the ability of Hideo Higashi, flashy quarter for the seniors. Just as he did in the game Monday against the sophomores, Higashi ran around the ends and through the line tossed passes and did everything else a good man can do. He hurled a pass to Hagthrop in the first touchdown, the senior end running 25 yards to the goal line. Higashi then kicked goal.

Higashi also collected the honors for the other touchdown in the fourth quarter when he bucked the ball down the field and finally over the goal. At the close of the game, the seniors nearly scored another tally, working the ball to the 15-yard line when the gun shot.

The lone junior score came in the fourth quarter when Jimmy Daneri raced around end 40 yards to a touchdown. Ralph Gordon, fullback, paved the way for the long run by taking out the last two tacklers in Daneri's path. Daneri dropped the pass from center and failed to convert but the seniors were off and the score counted.

The climax to the spring grid season was scheduled this afternoon at Tustin high school when the graduating members of last year's strong team met the prospective eleven of 1930. Both clubs were very strong and it was uncertain which had the edge. The Saints have been having spring practice for over six weeks and Coach Oliver uncovered much talent for the varsity squad next fall.

THE MILLS GRIND SLOWLY
Frank Wykoff ran 100 yards in 9.4 the other day, and some time in the next few years you may be reminded of the fact by the acceptance of his performance as a world record by the International Amateur Athletic federation. Meanwhile, the world record of Eddie Toland, Michigan's negro sprinter, stands on the books and 8.5 is supposed to be the shortest time in which a human being can travel 100 yards on his own power.

I used to wonder why a mark made so quickly took so long in traveling to the record books. But I have cut it out. The I. A. A. F. has tried to sacrifice speed in these matters to the interests of accuracy—and hasn't succeeded in even that. Why waste time with such people?

BEATING THE CHAMPION
Tolan is on the record books as the world champion in the 100-yard dash yet this year he has taken a dusting nearly every time he has entered competition. Cy Leland, the Texan, beat him at the Kansas and Drake relays. George Simpson defeated the Michigan sprinter at the Ohio relays and twice at the Big Ten meet in Chicago.

Wykoff "took" him at the I. C. 4-A. and so did Hec Dyer of Stanford.

There is a chance for the question of sprinting supremacy to be settled once and for all at the National Collegiate track and field meet in Chicago June 6 and 7. Here Simpson, Tolan, Wykoff, Bracey, Leland and Meier will run it out. George Simpson, who has won eight races out of eight starts this year, will be the favorite. If Tolan or any of the

Blenheim Is Derby Victor In England

EPSOM DOWNS, Eng., June 4.—The Aga Khan's Blenheim fought his way to victory in the 151st running of the English Derby today. Somerville Tattersall's filly was second and Sir Hugo Hirst's Diolite, the favorite, third.

The great riding of Jockey Harry Wragg was given due credit for the victory.

The victory was worth $47,890 net to the Aga Khan.

The race, at a distance of approximately 1½ miles, was run in the official time of 2:38-1/5, rather slow compared to previous years.

Blenheim won by a length, while Diolite was two lengths in front of Diolite.

STARS LARRUP ORANGE AGAIN. DALEY SHINES

Santa Ana's Stars can't beat Huntington Beach when Howard Morning is on the slab or Olive when Rudy Heman and Freddy Gunther occupy the knoll—but they still can "take" Orange no matter who pitches for the adjacent city.

That tradition, as old as night baseball itself, followed its customary lane at the Bowl last night when the Stars again bulldozed George Lackaye's cohorts, 8 to 0.

Joe Cornelius, pitching invincible ball in the pinches, won his sixth straight victory for the home guard while his colleagues, lagging after a fast start on big Walter Jordan, came again in the last part of the skirmish to pile up a substantial margin of victory.

Cornelius Stings
Cornelius gave the Orangemen only five hits but was pretty fortunate to earn a shutout because of wildness which, for the first time since his arrival here a month ago, was apparent in his pitching paraphernalia. Walks and wild pitches had runners lurking on the pathways in the third round and a beautiful throw from center field to the plate in the fourth by Orr Schuchardt cut off a certain run.

The Stars marked twice as early as the first inning. Incidentally, Santa Ana went to bat first because the affair was really Orange's home game, having been transferred here because of the apathy of Orange fans in the doings of their home mob.

Schuchardt, first up, drew a pass. He went all the way to third on Merrill's sacrifice and scored on Leavitt Daley's double which was the first of four bingles by the fleet shortstopper. Daley reached third when Russell Sullivan's throw in plunked him on the back. He scored on Nelson's fielder's choice.

Drive Hits Pitcher
Schuchardt started something again in the third. He almost drove the ball down Jordan's throat, the liner bouncing off Walt's whiskers back to the Orange dugout. Schuchardt stole second and took third when Middlebrook's low throw escaped Thiery. He scored on Merrill's single.

The count remained 3-0 until the Stars broke loose with one of their big rallies in the eighth. Cornelius gave the thing impetus with a double over third base. Schuchardt singled infield, Cornelius remaining on second. Merrill doubled to center, scoring Cornelius and sending Schuchardt to third. Daley grounded to Jordan and Schuchardt beat the big pitcher's toss to the plate and the play was duplicated an instant later when Nelson's grounder was relayed to Middlebrook by Thiery too late to flag Merrill. Bell's line double to center then scored both Daley and Nelson.

Friday's Schedule
La Habra at Santa Ana; Anaheim at Huntington Beach; Olive at Whittier; Orange at Long Beach; Garden Grove at Fullerton.

Although hard pressed to win half their own games this season, Santa Ana's Stars hold the whip hand in the National Night baseball league. They are going to decide who wears the championship toga for the first half of President George W. Peterkin's derby.

Anaheim defeated Whittier, 4 to 2, at Whittier and crept up to within one game of the league-leading Quakers last night.

Santa Ana has a regularly scheduled contest to play with Whittier here next Tuesday night.

May Play Anaheim Again
The Stars also may have to meet Anaheim all over again as a result of the Valencia's protest of their 13-4 defeat on May 23.

President Peterkin still has this complaint under investigation. He has been interviewing high baseball authorities in an effort to iron out the touchy situation to everybody's satisfaction.

No matter how Peterkin rules, the Santa Ana-Whittier ruckus will mean much.

If the Stars trip the Quakers they can give Anaheim a chance to tie for first place even if Peterkin's decision favors the Stars.

If Peterkin's ruling is for Anaheim and the Valencia defeat Santa Ana in a return engagement, the Santa Ana-Whittier conflict next Tuesday will actually determine the championship providing, of course, that Anaheim is able to win the remainder of its three starts.

Bushman Stops Leaders
Al Bushman's superlative pitching won for Anaheim over Whittier last night. He fanned 15 and allowed only seven hits.

The corpulent right hander blanked "Rube" Ellis' men until two were away in the ninth. Then he walked Davis. Successive singles by Hill,

STAR-WHITTIER GAME TUESDAY IS IMPORTANT

White and McDonnell produced a couple of tallies before Bushman again had control of the situation. Home runs played an important role in the Anaheim triumph. Phil Schrott blasted one to left center in the first inning after "Doc" Blakely beat out a bunt and put the Valencias two runs to the good almost before the game was under way.

Vernon Rockwell hit another four-way ball in the fourth which made the count 3-0.

Anaheim got its other tally in the sixth. P. Schrott doubled and Lou Schrott stopped at third on the took second unmolested but his brother was winged out at the plate on Preble's grounder to second base.

Lou Schrott stopped at the plate and scored on another fielder's choice, Rockwell being thrown out at first.

The score:

Anaheim	4	7	0
Whittier	2	7	1

Batteries: Anaheim—A. Bushman and B. Bushman; Whittier—McDonnell and White.

GARDEN GROVE DEFEATS LONG BEACH, 8-7

The "Giant Killers" of Garden Grove had another scalp to their credit today. They came from far behind to humble the Long Beach Acorns, 8-7, at Long Beach last night.

The erstwhile champions of the National league had a five-run lead for three innings but Roy Robinson and Lloyd Lichtenwalter blew up whereas Joe Mene became stronger as the innings passed along. Jake Garr and Bob Bove both hit safely thrice in five attempts. The box score:

MORNING FANS 26 BUT LOSER GAME, 1-0

Howard Morning struck out 26 Fullerton hitters in 12 innings but lost a 1 to 0 decision to "Buster" Callan's rejuvenated Nite Hawks at Fullerton.

The great southpaw yielded only one hit in the first nine frames but found his adversary, "Bud" Wilhite, in fine fettle also.

Infield singles by "Mutt" Dausser and Hemus and "Choppy" Dausser's sharp bingle over second base, scoring his brother, broke up the thrilling pitcher's battle in the last of the twelfth.

It was a heart-breaker for Morning and his mates to lose but Fullerton played well behind Wilhite, handling 23 chances with only one miscue, and that did not prove troublesome. The score:

leadership of the National Night league with his mark of 489.

"Memphis" Hill, suspended Star infielder, saw the fireworks from the dugout. Colorful little "What-aman" has been set down for an indefinite period for umpire-baiting but hopes his suspension will be lifted so he can take his place in the lineup when Santa Ana meets Whittier here next week.

Back at the old hot corner, "Scotty" Scott came up with a magnificent play on Lyie Richards' slow hopper in the third that saved a run for Cornelius. Two were on and two out when Richards dribbled a slow ball down the third base line. Scott picked it up and in the same motion tossed to Curt Yonel for the out.

Umpire Wentz is just about the most consistent "Tom" in the National Night league but he missed one when he called Warren Sullivan out at the plate in the fourth frame after Jordan skied to center. Schuchardt's throw was perfect and Wilcox put the ball on "Sully" in a hurry but the Orange runner appeared to have beaten it.

John Lutz, one of the league's best batsmen, failed to hit safely off Cornelius. He blasted a sacrifice fly his first time up and walked the next time but was an easy victim on his third and fourth tours.

ing the ringsters to guffaw immoderately.

And all of the time he looked exceedingly like a heavyweight prize fighter who is soon to win the championship of the world. He is bigger, stronger than ever. His breadth of shoulder is really impressive. He can hit with both hands, accurately, rapidly and hard. He showed that with Grosso. His footwork and boxing are excellent. He showed that with Cavalier.

He has everything, in fact, that it will take to win this fight, except the one thing that nobody can guarantee for him. Nobody can tell just when the small boy, which is always near the surface—you saw it yesterday when he stood outside his training quarters and held court before a group of admiring nobodies—may break through his reserve and cause him to do something very impulsively and very wrong. He has done this before; he may do it again. It is the one big chance that Schmeling has.

others can beat George, the airy title of "fastest human" should be his.

FOR MY MONEY

Most of the young men who sprint, hurdle or vault are simply young men in college, and furnish no very colorful gob of copy to the reporters.

They run their races, a few of their names linger on for several years, another young man in college breaks their record and thereafter they are forgotten. But there is one lad many of the reporters who have covered track meets will never forget. He was my favorite because he was a fighter, and in any argument among the boys in the back room upon the subject of great sprinters, I always have insisted that this chap was the greatest. His name is Percy Williams.

Rheumatic fever made an invalid of Percy Williams when he was a boy 15 years old. Doctors pronounced his heart leaky and advised him never to run for a street car. He was a frail youth, with an "Adam's apple" as big as a Baldwin in his thin neck. He weighed about 110 pounds. A couple of years before he ran in the Olympics of 1923 he fell from a shed and broke a leg.

But at Amsterdam, the world's greatest sprinters followed him down the 100 and 200-meter path. He went on later to beat Toland at 40 yards in 4-2/5 seconds; to beat Jack Elder at 45 yards in 4-4/5; to tie a world record at 60 yards in the Canadian championships at 5-1/5; to beat Wykoff, Bracey and Toland last year at Vancouver in 100 yards at 9-3/5.

They say the outdoor life saved Williams' life after the doctors had given him up. A different word seems more expressive. That word is courage.

Fullerton Awards Lansdowne Improvement Contract

CITY COUNCIL IN ACTION ON WATER SYSTEM

FULLERTON, June 4.—Authorized start of improvement work in Lansdowne improvement district No. 140, the contract for the project was awarded by the Fullerton city council last night to S. M. Milovich as the lowest bidder of 11 estimates for the work received by the council. Milovich's bid was at $13,388.02, other bids ranging up to $30,000. The district improves water system and sewer improvement projects.

A diagram for assessment district No. 139 and covering cost of the project in that district, which was presented by the engineer, was approved by the council. Work on district No. 139 has been completed and approved by City Engineer C. M. Thorpe.

Requesting some measure to provide sufficient water supply in the North Cypress avenue district where scarcity of water has been reported in the past few years, residents in that section of the city presented a petition to the council asking for relief from the situation before the dry months of the summer when the supply will be further depleted due to the small mains in that territory.

That the Cypress avenue district would be covered in the program of expansion which is being carried out by the council was pointed out by members of the board, who stated that the expansion program is being undertaken in sections. Plans have already been made for improvement in the West Commonwealth district, it being pointed out that many of the small mains which would be taken at from the West Commonwealth area when the larger mains are installed might be used in the Cypress district following the completion of the district which is now being undertaken. Residents in the Cypress district were assured by the council that the improvement will be started as soon as possible.

A communication from the Policyholders' Service corporation, which is employed by the city to advise on insurance policies of the city making recommendations for future needs of the city, was filed. It was pointed out that the fleet insurance expires June 22, at which time a new policy will be taken out by the city.

A resolution giving a free title to portions of the property purchased from the city by W. H. Wickett was approved, the sum of $12,500 to be paid for the cleared to the police and the property.

A request by City Engineer C. M. Thorpe for additional time following his regular vacation was approved by the board.

Discussion of a law suit for Motor Transit against W. W. Wilshire, resulted in the granting of a space adjacent to the corner for passengers to board the stages. The stop was formerly on North Spadra road.

A meeting of the Metropolitan Water district at Terrace on June 10 was announced last night. Discussions of water problems by leading engineers will be the feature of the session.

Exercises Will Be Held During Fall

PLACENTIA, June 4.—Graduation exercises of the Placentia union grammar school will not be held until fall and the Bradford avenue school, which has been closed for the past week because of cases of infantile paralysis among the students, will not reopen again for this term.

This was the decision of the school trustees yesterday. Secretary LeRoy Lyon stated that the state board of health had approved the stand taken by Dr. E. H. Sutherland, county health officer,

NEWPORT WILL HAVE FLOAT IN LIGHTS EVENT

NEWPORT BEACH, June 4.—The city of Newport Beach will be officially represented by a float in this year's tournament of lights, in Newport bay, July 12, it was decided by the city council in adopting a recommendation of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce to that effect.

It is hoped that other cities in the Southland will also have floats in the big illuminated parade and several communities have already made inquiries regarding it. For the first time there will be a commercial division, and this is expected to add greatly to the brilliancy of the aquatic fête.

El L. Sherman, general chairman of the chamber of commerce committee handling the event, announced today that the route of the parade will be changed this year, so as to allow still more thousands to see the parade. Starting at Balboa it will proceed toward the harbor entrance, then cross the bay and return along the south side of Balboa island, past Collins island, Harbor island and along the south shore of Lido Isle to Newport, where it will turn and proceed back to the point of commencement at Balboa.

Estimates of the crowd which viewed the parade last year varied from 40,000 to 70,000, and with added entries and new facilities for spectators in Newport, Balboa, Lido Isle, Corona del Mar, Newport Heights and other sections of the Harbor district, a record attendance is anticipated.

In closing the schools. It was also stated that churches had cooperated in the matter by closing all young peoples' gatherings.

SIGN EFFORTS EXPLAINED FOR REALTY BOARD

LAGUNA BEACH, June 4.—Difficulties in getting the illuminated sign which now hangs over Coast boulevard were explained to the Realty board Tuesday by B. C. Mackey, member of the board and committeeman for the chamber of commerce.

More than a year had elapsed, Mr. Mackey said, between the time when the initial effort was made and the sign finally swung into position and lighted. It was paid for by the city. Various designs were submitted to the chamber of commerce and to the city, and details were discussed time after time, he said. He thought that no one should have been in ignorance as to the type of sign decided on.

Not the least of the difficulties lay in the fact that in the company from which the steel poles were procured many changes were made in the officials, with the result that each time the plans had to be stated again. Finally when the poles were set they were angular instead of round as ordered. The correspondence was lost, Mr. Mackey said, but as he had retained his correspondence, he was able to show that the round poles had been specified time after time. These are not made on the coast but were to have been ordered from the east. The company made good by sheathing the poles in heavy sheet iron, filling the sheathing to a height of 10 feet with cement. The most taper possible was given, from 14 inches at the base to 11 inches at the top, this being the greatest dimension and consequently the least diameter. Poles were set by the Southern California Edison company without charge to the city.

That there had been criticism of the sign Mr. Mackey admitted, but he pointed to the repeated reports as giving small ground for complaint now. The cost of maintenance is small for the sign selected. He suggested that it might after a few years be swung at one of the entrances to the city, when it is felt that this can be afforded.

A vote of thanks was given by the board to Mr. Mackey for his work in securing the sign. The board also voted to pay Miss Anna Priscilla Risher $30 for the Laguna Beach Little Symphony orchestra as one of the supporting organizations of the orchestra. Congratulations were extended to Perry McCullough, who has taken out a broker's license. He had been salesman previously.

Routine Matters Before Red Cross At Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, June 4.—Only routine matters came before the Red Cross at the meeting held yesterday forenoon at the chamber of commerce office. Thomas C. Cummings proposed the name of Calhoun Beardsley to be submitted to the city council with those of Dana Lamb and Richard Malone, previously proposed.

A letter from Edwin Carroll of the Pacific branch at San Francisco authorized borrowing funds from the general fund to be used for beach equipment. The fund in charge of Mrs. Joseph Jahnke had been depleted by the expenses for equipment this year, but it is expected that donations made during the summer will permit reducing the amount borrowed. Miss Alice Parker, secretary, reported to Mrs. Jessie Dunham, president, that the membership is 426.

La Habra Post, Auxiliary Plan Dance June 27

LA HABRA, June 4.—E. R. Berry presided at the meeting of the American Legion Monday evening at the Legion hall. Plans were made for a dance to be held in conjunction with the auxiliary to be held at the Woman's clubhouse June 27. M. Renken was named chairman of the dance committee; E. N. Whittemore and H. H. Peabody were named as other members of the committee.

A discussion was held concerning the financing of the summer supervised playground, although no action was taken as a means of financing the project was not fully determined.

It was decided at the meeting to make the awarding of medals for scholarship in the local schools an annual affair. Two medals will be awarded graduates at the graduation service tomorrow evening.

A balance of $151.50 was reported in the treasury by the finance officer, L. E. Proud. Following the meeting the group played golf at the new golf course as guests of Charles Stephens.

7 Golf Courses For Beach City

NEWPORT BEACH, June 4.—The miniature golf craze is widespread, but this city probably leads all others for its size. The granting of two permits by the city council to W. H. Green and T. B. Turner, makes seven for which licenses have been issued by the city council, or for which applications are pending. Three courses are already under construction. The Turner course will be a deluxe affair on the mainland portion of the Lido Isle property in Newport.

MODERN SEWER SYSTEM URGED IN BEACH CITY

NEWPORT BEACH, June 4.—A modern sewer system to accommodate a city of 15,000 people is recommended in a report made by the Currie Engineering company to the city council. The council some time ago retained the company to make a survey, owing to the rapid growth of the city and the need of Corona del Mar, Newport Heights and Lido Isle for more modern facilities. The report was filed for future action.

The proposed system would cost about $180,000, entailing the laying of 8300 feet of new 24-inch mains and 2300 feet of 18-inch mains, the building of new treatment and disposal plants, the acquisition of five acres of land and disposal of sewage into the Santa Ana river.

The report stated that disposal of sewage into the ocean would be obsolete in five years, due to the scarcity of water and the pollution of beaches.

City Engineer R. L. Patterson was asked to report on the cost and best plan of dredging around Collins Isle. Owners of Collins Isle, represented by John R. Avery, and residents of the western part of Balboa island, want this dredging done, and Avery offered to make a contribution towards it, stating he had paid more than $5000 in city taxes on the Collins Isle property in the last four years.

A plan for the subdivision of the block of land formerly owned by Pacific Electric railway interests and recently sold to Otto G. Wildey and company, of Los Angeles, for a reported consideration of $180,000, was submitted by Wildey and approved by the council. Wildey asked that that part of the municipal auto camp adjacent to his property be closed, as he said his company will put in a high class subdivision, the property being between the P. E. tracks and the bay. He was assured that some changes would probably be made in the camp grounds after the present summer season.

The West Newport pool is to be beautified and made into a marine garden, at a cost of not more than $1500, the council decided. Maintenance costs will come out of the fund approved by the people in a special election last week.

The city voted to accept title to a mud flat in the bay in front of the Newport Yacht club, provided it is given a grant deed. The Yacht club has bought the property and offers to deed it to the city without restrictions, except that it will never be used for commercial purposes. It is planned to eventually dredge the property as the demand for more anchorage for yachts and other craft is growing.

The chief of police and harbor master were asked to enforce the law against speeding boats which are said to have been racing through Grand canal, Balboa island.

George Cannardis, recently denied a license to operate a hot-dog stand on Main street, Balboa, and who started mandamus proceedings to compel the city council to issue a license, was given his license. Since he made his first application, however, he leased a larger place. Previously he had only three feet frontage on Main street and this was one of the reasons the council gave for refusing the license, as it would necessitate his using the street for his business, it was said.

TO NAME OFFICERS

LA HABRA, June 4.—Election of officers will be held at the all day meeting of the Ladies' Aid society and Missionary society of the Methodist church tomorrow at the social hall.

ARRANGE PICNIC

LOS ALAMITOS, June 4.—The final announcement by the school board and P. T. A. fixes the Seventh street Recreation park, at Long Beach, as the site of the school picnic, to be held June 7.

GRADE PUPILS GET DIPLOMAS ON THURSDAY

SAN CLEMENTE, June 4.—Five students of the San Clemente school and five from the Serra school will receive their diplomas tomorrow at ceremonies to be held in the Spanish village school auditorium. J. C. Herbsman of San Clemente will give the principal address. Diplomas will be awarded by Aaron Buchheim, president of the board. Invocation will be given by the Rev. Hugh McNinch. San Clemente graduates are Lorna Barry, Betty Carlson, Helen Eaton, Mary Cavin and Joan Messer. The following will be graduated by the Serra school: Pauline Benton, Donna Petterson, Howard James, James Isham and George Avila.

The program follows: March, Mrs. Julia I. Chalk; invocation, the Rev. Hugh McNinch; rhythm band, primary grades; Spanish songs, Alice Thorne, Dolores Pacheco, Josephine Serry, Martina Yslaz, Mary Galaveiz; class song, graduates; dance, Mary Gleason; address, J. C. Herbsman; duet, Lorna Barry, Mary Cavin; awarding of diplomas, Aaron Buchheim; piano solo.

Flowers will be presented to the girl graduates by the San Clemente Parent-Teachers association and the same body will present the boy graduates with gifts.

HANSON TO TALK

SAN CLEMENTE, June 4.—Ole Hanson will be the principal speaker at the Friday meeting of the Pasadena Realty board's salesmen's division. Hanson will speak on "Building a City in Three Years."

Lions Club At Costa Mesa Elects New Officers

DR. HUSTON IS NAMED TO LEAD ORGANIZATION

Dr. C. G. Huston was elected president of the Costa Mesa Lions club at its meeting Tuesday noon; C. W. Te Winkle was chosen vice president; W. W. Middleton, secretary and treasurer; Leo Grooms, lion tamer; Ed Edick, tall twister; the Rev. A. F. Hasse, sky pilot; and O. B. Fawcett and Dr. H. Q. Willis, directors.

Dr. Elliot H. Rowland and E. M. (Sunny) Sundquist, of Santa Ana, will be invited to install the officers. Charles E. Dunn is the retiring president. Dr. Huston was the first president of the Costa Mesa Lions club.

Mrs. A. P. Nelson, president of the Friday Afternoon club, was a luncheon guest and gave a short talk, during which an invitation was given to the Lions to hear Earl Morrow, of Santa Ana, at the Costa Mesa clubhouse Friday at 3 p. m., when a civil war talk will be given.

There will be no luncheon next Tuesday on account of the Orange county council meeting being held at Costa Mesa next Monday evening, which will take the place of the regular session.

Wayne Goble and Carson Smith, of Santa Ana, and P. E. Russell, of Costa Mesa, were visitors at yesterday's session.

COURT TO HEAR ARGUMENTS ON DEED TO BEACH

Under an agreement reached yesterday afternoon between District Attorney Z. B. West and Frank Drumm, attorney for the Dana Point syndicate, the courts will be called upon to decide as to the validity of a deed conveying a section of the beach at Dana Point to the county and to determine whether a road leading from the bluffs to the beach is a public or private road.

The two attorneys came to the court agreement following discussion of the subject of ownership of the beach and road before the supervisors, during which there was heated debate between District Attorney West and Supervisor William Jeffrey and Alfred E. Guy, of Dana Point, who maintains that the beach and road are public property.

Guy pointed out that, according to the records, the beach was accepted by the county on March 18, 1924, and District Attorney West asserted that there is a question as to the title, due to the fact that the man who signed the deed as president of the corporation conveying the property was not president at the time.

W. K. Hillyard, county surveyor, informed the board that the road in question never was a county road. He said there is no record of it ever being dedicated as a public road.

During discussions between West and Guy, the district attorney accused Guy of playing politics by addressing communications to papers concerning the controversy.

HEIRESS AND PLUMBER WED

They'll be happy on $35 a week. That was the prediction of Dolores Ford, Smith College heiress whose marriage to a Negro cabaret employee recently was annulled, pictured here in New York with her new husband, Louis Matthews, a Richmond, Va., plumber. This is her fourth marriage. She was reported to have requested her father, a multi-millionaire Toledo, Ohio, manufacturer, to discontinue her $12,000 a year allowance.

CLUB INSPECTS PLANT OF S. A. BEVERAGE FIRM

Following a business meeting at the Santa Ana cafe yesterday noon, members of the Exchange club of this city journeyed through the plant of the Nohi Bottling company on East First street. They visited the room where the mixtures are made up in vats, went through the bottling room, and saw the process of inspection of the finished product. They then witnessed the shipping of the product.

Jim Mahoney and Gene Hays won contests staged at the plant, in which it developed that Mahoney was blessed with the most perfect underpinning, from the ankle to the knee. Two baseball gloves were awarded to the winners, which will be sent to the children at the health camp maintained by the Orange County Tuberculosis association in the Santiago canyon.

At the business session yesterday Clyde Jenken, president, presided after an absence of several weeks, which he took for his health. It was reported at the meeting that the 24-foot slide given to the health camp by the club has been installed and that the youngsters are enjoying it to the utmost.

PLAN TO PLACE GOLF LINKS IN PARK SECTION

That Frank Wilson contemplates location of a miniature golf course near Orange county park was revealed yesterday when Wilson made application to the board of supervisors for permission to tap the water line running between Orange county park and the Orange county health camp to procure water for his course.

The matter was referred to the district attorney as to whether conditions under which the county accepted Irvine park as a county park would prevent granting of the request. It is understood that James Irvine has no personal objection to the application.

The handsome new pavilion at the county park today stood as a completed project, following its acceptance from Contractor Schmidt yesterday.

A request from the Orange County Fruit exchange that the force of the fruit patrol be increased was taken under advisement. The exchange pointed out that large quantities of fruit were being stolen from Orange county orchards.

Carl Simmons was given a license to conduct a dance hall at La Jolla, near Placentia.

W. D. Tremaine, constable at Brea, was given leave of absence for 20 days after June 10. The constable contemplates leaving the state for a few days.

The Southern California Edison company was directed to install a street light in front of the new civic building on Ninth street, Buena Park. A request for the light was made by the Buena Park Chamber of Commerce.

WALKATHON RULES BECOME STRICTER

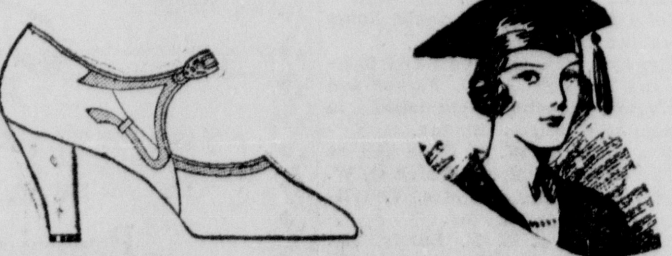

The Walkathon is still going with 4 couples left in the contest. They have been in continuous motion for more than 665 hours. Last night the rules were made more severe in the hope of bringing the contest to a close within a very few hours. The contestants are now on the floor for a period of 90 minutes in place of the old 75-minute period.

It is remembered that when the rules were changed for the first time from the 60-minute to the 75-minute periods, the contest lasted a couple a day for four days.

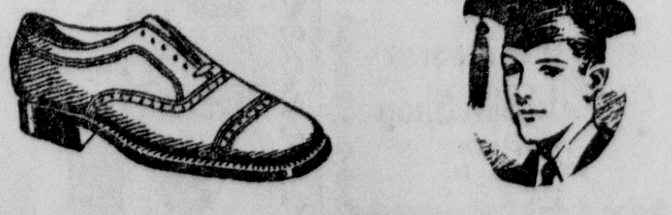

Tonight's program will present a colored tap and buck and wing dancing contest. There are several well known Los Angeles men coming out to judge the contest.

FIREMEN SEEK STATE PENSION FUND SUPPORT

Support of constitutional amendment No. 27, an act enabling the state legislature to apportion a part of the corporation tax toward a pension fund for firemen, will be sought by the various firemen's organizations of California, according to W. C. Fox, of Santa Ana, vice president of the California State Firemen's association, and president of the Orange County Firemen's association.

Sponsored by the state association, composed of 245 departments, the amendment was approved at the last session of the state legislature, and will be placed on the ballot for the fall election, Fox said.

The local man said that the small percentage of receipts from the corporation tax that would be apportioned would not create a fund sufficient to allow more than small pensions, and that individual departments will create a local fund by paying a percentage of their wages for the purpose.

Working on the logical theory that municipalities, through civic funds, protect all property, however taxable, the supporters of the amendment have declared their belief that a share of the tax funds held by the state in the general fund should be used for pension purposes for all fire departments of the state.

"It has been pointed out by leaders of the move that, with the exception of the metropolitan area having established pension funds, the firemen are protected only by regular insurance, paid at their own expense, or by small accident compensation funds supported by the already overtaxed towns."

"The passage of the amendment will result in the creation of pension funds in every city and township in California, will increase department personnel efficiency, and will lower insurance rates, supporters assert."

'FAINTING BOY' REPEATS LOCAL TRICK IN EAST

Hugh Weaver, 21, a youth who "fainted" police here a month ago with a story of having appendicitis, in order to get something to eat, is telling a new story in Indiana, according to word received today by C. V. Adams, detective, who handled the case here.

Weaver dropped into the police station several weeks ago, doubled up, said he had appendicitis and wanted to go to the hospital. First he wanted something to eat, because he was a traveler and hadn't eaten for several days and was trying to get to Merced.

The officer took him to a restaurant and he ate three orders

'UNCLE' TO KIDDIES

Once looked upon as a vicious "red," George Lansbury, first commissioner of public works under England's labor ministry, is now called the "national uncle" of British children because of his activities in providing playgrounds. And here you see him enjoying a ride in a paddle boat with two young admirers at Ravensbury Park, London, one of the many parks he has turned into childhood paradise with sandpits, boating pools and other amusement features.

REVEAL VESPER SERVICE PLANS FOR GRADUATES

The program for the vesper service in which graduates of the Julia Lathrop and Frances Willard junior high schools will be honored on June 8 was made public today. The services will take place at the Polytechnic High school auditorium and will begin at 5 p. m.

Graduates will open the program by singing "Onward Christian Soldiers." The invocation will be given by the Rev. R. W. Harlow, pastor of the United Brethren church. The Frances Willard school boys' glee club will sing "Dear Father of Mankind," after which the Rev. Mr. Harlow will give a scripture reading. The girls' glee club of the Frances Willard school then will sing "If With All Your Hearts."

"Faith of Our Fathers" will be sung by the congregation, after which the Rev. O. W. Remius, pastor of the Richland Avenue Methodist church, will deliver a sermon, "Religion and Life."

The Mixed chorus from the Julia Lathrop school will sing "Loving Appear," "The Redemption" and "The Heavens Resound." The benediction will be given by the Rev. Mr. Harlow. The audience will remain seated during the rendition of the "Recessional."

Original Poems Read At Poetry Section Meeting Yesterday

Featuring annual original poem day, members of Ebell Modern Poetry section, gathered in the home of Miss Martha Ritchey, on McFadden street in Tustin yesterday for the last meeting of the club year. Mrs. C. F. Jackson was co-hostess with Miss Ritchey.

The contributions of verse were greatly enjoyed by the group, and varied were the themes that had been chosen by the versatile writers.

An interesting outline of program plans for next year was given by Mrs. Eleanor Northcross, ex-chairman of the program committee, and as the first club hostess of the next meeting in October when Miss Mabel Whiting will be co-hostess with her.

The delectest of refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting, followed by a most enjoyable social hour as the congenial group had much to discuss during the concluding gathering. Picturesque Canterbury bells, brocade, and a wealth of summer flowers which adorned the Ritchey home were a delight to the guests, who late in the day wandered out in the gardens where the variety of many hued blooms which had been used indoors, were growing.

Wrycende Maegden Elects Officers Last Night

Miss Dorothy Dresser was elected president of the Wrycende Maegden club last night at a dinner meeting in the Y. W. C. A. rooms, succeeding Miss Mildred Calkins. Others to serve with Miss Dresser are the Misses Charlene Swartz, vice president; Beulah Dudgeon, secretary; Monta Currie, treasurer; Louise Proctor, finance chairman; Hattie Bell Wall, social chairman; Margaret Gaebe, program chairman; Muriel Kuhl, service chairman, and Ruth Potter, membership chairman.

Plans for a week-end trip at the Y. W. C. A. camp Emma Otis, on June 14 and 15, were made, and the evident enthusiasm of the members was such that a large group of girls is expected to enjoy the outing.

Community Players To Hold Election

Since the annual election of the Santa Ana Community Players' association is to be held in connection with the monthly meeting tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Barn, an unusually large crowd is expected to be present.

Because of the importance of the election and the time it will consume, Gladys Simpson Shafer, Barn chairman, decided to omit the one-act play which is a customary feature of the informal programs. Instead there will be a paper by Miss Agnes Todd Miller of the high school and junior college faculty, on "The Afterpiece of the Drama," and Frank Lansdown will give a reading from one of these after-pieces, "High Life Below Stairs." Miss Allen Lahr will have charge of the musical program.

Mexican Menu Served at Delightful Dinner Party Recently

A replica of an evening in old Mexico was the dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Sol Gonzales, 830 East Third street, Tuesday evening. Places were marked with tiny American and Mexican flags and a typical Mexican menu was served. The delectable course had been sent from Mexico for the occasion and was a delectable dish, dulce de limon, or preserved lemons, prepared by a special process.

The table linens were fine Mexican drawn-work and Mrs. Gonzales was assisted in her duties as hostess by her mother, Mrs. C. Lopez, and her sister, Miss Delphine Lopez.

Spanish was spoken throughout the evening and a musical program of Spanish numbers was presented by Miss Ruth Frothingham, Sol Gonzales and Estaban Rodriguez.

Those sharing the pleasant occasion were Mrs. Edith Winters, Mrs. Bessie Harper, Miss Florence Moreland, Miss Anabelle Knowles, C. D. Chamberlin, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Weston, Estaban Rodriguez, Miss Ruth Frothingham, Mrs. C. Lopez, Miss Delphine Lopez and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Gonzales.

Popular Bride-elect Is Incentive for Shower

Mrs. Warren Bradford and Mrs. J. Willis Bennie of Placentia, Mrs. Peter E. Fluor of Anaheim and Miss Martha Lind of Los Angeles, were joint hostesses at a bridge luncheon and shower given Saturday at the Pacific Coast club, Long Beach, in honor of Miss Katherine Bradford of Placentia and La Canada.

Miss Bradford, daughter of Mrs. A. E. Bradford, is to be married to Dr. Frank Long of Los Angeles June 28, and many lovely gifts were presented her by her friends.

Mrs. E. K. Kirby of Placentia held high score at the bridge game with Mrs. C. E. Haiber of Placentia, second; consolation prizes were awarded Mrs. Simon Fluor Jr. of Anaheim, Mrs. Lloyd Smith of Fullerton, Mrs. U. H. B. P. W. Members Will Attend Convention

Business and Professional Women of this city who plan to attend any of the luncheon or dinner sessions of the annual Southern District convention in Long Beach, June 13 to 15, must make their reservations through Miss Lena Thomas by tomorrow, as reservations will close Friday in the convention city. Miss Thomas has been appointed as reservations chairman for the entire year, and it will be her duty to arrange for attendance at all such affairs as they come up in the club activities.

Next Monday's club program will be the first under the new staff of officers with Mrs. Hazel Northcross as president, and will be an industrial program arranged by Mrs. Adelaide Cochran. She will introduce a Los Angeles representative of a bottled table water who will discuss the plant of his company, and tell details regarding the industry.

Daisy Russell Group Entertained in Warren Home

Mrs. Martin Warren was hostess to the Daisy Russell Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church Tuesday evening in her home on South Birch street. Mrs. Belle Marshall had aided in planning the interesting meeting but was unable to attend.

Mrs. Grace Anderson, the president of the group, was in charge of the program, which featured two very enlightening talks on "Early Missionaries in Egypt," given by Mrs. E. Esau and Miss Ethel Collins.

At the conclusion of the business session, the members enjoyed delicious refreshments, and a happy social hour. The home had been made especially lovely by the profusion of delicate summer flowers used throughout the Warren home.

Those present were Mesdames E. Esau, Bert Porter, John Kyper, Jeanette Johnson, W. W. Hayes, Bruce Gibson, Winsor, John McCauley, Grace Anderson, Walter Vieira, and the Misses Mary Smart, Mabel McFadden, Martha Smith, Alice Overhiser, Myra Gibson, Jane White, Ethel Collins, and the hostess, Mrs. Martin Warren.

YOU and your Friends

Mrs. J. F. Richards, 806 North Olive street, spent yesterday in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Lottie Rittenhouse of 711 South Birch street, who was called to Illinois on account of her sister's illness, will spend the rest of the summer in various interesting places in the east.

Mrs. Julia A. Elder, 710 West Eighth street, left today for Los Angeles via the Union Pacific, for Springfield, O., where she will visit with relatives.

Miss Peg Crawford, of Orange, has arrived home to spend the summer. She is a teacher in the Holtville grammar school.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Nalle, 814 South Birch street, have as a house guest Mrs. Nalle's mother, Mrs. Jennie Crawford, of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Crawford will spend most of the summer months with her mother.

Miss Edna Strangland, of Sacramento, state director of adult education, and her sister, Miss Opal Stangland, of San Francisco, connected with the McMillen Publishing house, were visitors yesterday in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hill, 730 Minter street, and children, Billie, Betty and Marjorie Alice, and Helen Carden Johnson of Los Angeles were dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Carden, Arcadian hotel, Los Angeles, Sunday. Mr. Carden, who is Mrs. Hill's father, returned to Santa Ana with the Hills and spent the first of the week here.

Dr. and Mrs. George Irvine and family of Phoenix, Ariz., arrived in Santa Ana, Tuesday, to spend the summer. They will be guests in the home of Dr. Irvine's aunt, Mrs. J. C. Allison, 408 South Broadway.

Mrs. Jessie O'Steen and little daughter, Geraldine, 1214 Spaulding avenue, Glendale, is spending this week in Santa Ana with her mother and sister, Mrs. F. M. Baldwin and Mrs. Verne Morse. Mrs. Baldwin is recovering from a slight illness.

Miss Alice Houseman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Houseman, 803 Orange avenue, is home after a year's absence, when she spent this period of time with her sister, Mrs. Gladys Smith of Lincoln, Neb. Mrs. Smith and daughter, Miss Katherine Smith, returned to Santa Ana with Miss Houseman.

Neighbors of Woodcraft

Two new members were received by Santa Ana Circle, No. 395, Neighbors of Woodcraft, at the meeting held Monday night in M.W.A. hall. They were Aimee Park of Los Angeles, who was initiated into the order, and Eugene Park, admitted by transfer. Since the grand guardian of the order, Mrs. Minnie Hiner of Portland, Ore., is expected to make her official visit on Tuesday night, July 1, much of the meeting was given over to planning for that event. The drill team will present its work under the leadership of Mrs. Grace Moranville, and at the intervening meeting on Monday, June 23, the time will be given over largely to practice rather than to the social program usually featured at the second monthly meeting.

Mrs. Ona Arnold was named as chairman of the committee on general arrangements for Mrs. Hiner's entertainment, and for refreshments to be served that night. At the close of the evening of planning, the Neighbors enjoyed a social hour during which Mrs. Dora McCall and her committee served refreshments.

Talking Films Offer Program Theme for Woman's Club

The progress of motion pictures from their first flickering appearance to the present vogue for talking pictures, was outlined in an interesting manner for members of the Santa Ana Woman's club at their meeting yesterday afternoon in the parish rooms of the Church of the Messiah. Miss Octavia Goldsmith had charge of the program, and gave an informative talk on the general theme.

The influence exerted by pictures was the greatest of any kind of entertainment she declared, and pointed out the educational advantages offered and the far-reaching effects of the films. Among statistics quoted was the fact that 115 million persons attend the picture theaters weekly, and Miss Goldsmith pointed out the tremendous field reached in this way.

Much of the interesting information which she gave the clubwomen, had been gleaned from the spring issues of the "Woman's Journal," a magazine which she has taken all her life and which her mother took before her. At the close of her talk, she presented her sister, Mrs. Amelia Clark of Los Angeles, who gave a brief but informative talk on interior decoration.

In the business meeting conducted by Mrs. William Whitehead, an invitation was read from Newport Ebell club, to the executive board meeting of the county federation, to be held in Newport Beach June 5. Mrs. William A. West gave an account of her visit to the Veterans' hospital at San Fernando, where she took 45 little pillows for the use of the ailing veterans, and where she also visited James Hopkins, who has been "adopted" by the Woman's club. Her accounts of his condition were very encouraging.

Hamil-Shafer Recital To Be Given at Ebell Clubhouse Tonight

The second of two recitals to be given by Mrs. Grace L. Hamil, Gladys Simpson Shafer and Maurie A. Hamil will be that of tonight in the Ebell clubhouse when intermediate and senior students will be presented. The program will open at 8 o'clock.

Several piano numbers are to be given and the opening selection will be played on two instruments by Billy Rudd, Lyle Anderson, Kempton Fergusson and Stanley Slaback.

The recital will close with a play, "The Turtle Dove," by Scott Oliver with the following cast of characters:

Music Leaders Endorse Concert At Clubhouse

D. C. Cianfoni has enthusiastically welcomed the news of the coming of the artists to appear at the program of the concert tomorrow night at the Ebell clubhouse auditorium. Cianfoni says that the concert will afford all music lovers a rare opportunity to enjoy a novel and interesting evening.

Elwood Bear, Santa Ana artist, recommends the concert to music lovers and especially to violin students. To hear fine violin playing often is justly considered a valuable advancement, Mr. Bear says.

All indications point to the most unusual concert given in Santa Ana for many seasons. With Calmon Luboviski heading the list of artists to appear on the program, the evening promises to be replete with fine music and other entertainment. Tickets may be purchased at the Stein Stationery stores, Shafer Music store, the First National bank, A. J. Cruickshank's desk, or at the door of the affair will go to the Duarte Sanatorium and ex-patients' home. A. J. Cruickshank, chairman of the Santa Ana committee, reports that many reservations already have been received.

Mrs. Baumgartner Is Hostess to Section Members

A most informal and delightful afternoon, spent in the midst of a most beautiful setting, was shared by members of First Travel Section of the Ebell club, when they were entertained by Mrs. J. P. Baumgartner in her charming Laguna Beach cottage. The view afforded from the cottage is delightful, and the lulling breezes which added to the enjoyment of the guests as well as the breaking of the white-crested waves on the rugged rocks.

Indoors a profusion of delicate-hued flowers prevailed. Several of the bouquets had been sent by friends of the hostess. Centering the little tables in the living room, were dainty bouquets of sweetpeas. The long table in the dining room, where the delectable refreshment course was served, was centered with a huge birthday cake honoring the birthday of Mrs. Lynn Shaw, who is soon to leave for an extended journey.

The guests spent a part of the afternoon in wandering on the beach, while Miss Constance Cruickshank, who had brought her movie-camera with her, took several pictures of them. Miss Cruickshank, her mother, Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, and Mrs. Ella S. Palmer, were special guests of the day.

Those present were Mesdames Sally Ames, J. C. Dawes, John L. Dryer, J. E. Gowan, Mary Eastman, Steven Ross, George Smith, William Smart, Terry Stevenson, Lynn Shaw, W. W. VanCleave, Mrs. Edmund West, and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Baumgartner.

BOLSA

BOLSA, June 4.—The closing program for the Bolsa primary school is being held Wednesday afternoon at the school, a play being given with other miscellaneous numbers. Tuesday morning the local pupils were taken to Garden Grove to be present at the program given in that school.

Thursday the Bolsa school picnic is to be held at Irvine park and a number of the parents and patrons are planning to attend.

There is a possibility that a fifth grade may be added to the local school which this year has had but the four lower grades. Mrs. Bell, of the local school faculty, has resigned her position here and is going east, it is reported.

Mr. and Mrs. John Farnsworth accompanied Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stennett to Irvine park, Sunday, where a certain group of friends always enjoy a picnic the first Sunday of each month.

Mrs. Esther Johnson, of Newport, is spending this week with her aunt, Mrs. Earl Gardner and family, while Mr. Johnson is at military training camp at Monterey.

Donald Ross, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ross, is slightly improved following a week's illness.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harding and children, spent Sunday at Trabuco canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Farnsworth and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howard returned Saturday night from a six days' motor trip to Sequoia National park. The group also visited a big sawmill in that region to fish and stopped for short visits with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bray at Merced and Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence at Fresno.

Miss Lucille Radford, who is English teacher in the Garden Grove high school, and Mrs. Sparks, attended high school baccalaureate services of the school at the Methodist church in Garden Grove Sunday evening.

LA HABRA

Word has been received of the marriage of Mrs. S. J. Daisey, formerly Mrs. George Koenig, of La Habra, to W. V. Helpenstein at Sacramento. They will make their home on Mr. Helpenstein's ranch at Chico. The bride is the mother of Mrs. C. Winfrey, of Mountain View avenue.

Miss Irene Wallace, of Montebello, was a week end guest of Miss Beulah Ward.

Mrs. Ed Risner, of Ventura, is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Ben Harp. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Espoit have left by auto, for Seattle, where they will take the boat for Alaska for a 10 weeks' visit.

Paul Wilber arrived home this week from several years' stay in South America. He will make his home with his sister, Miss Elma Wilber, of Ocean avenue.

Nellie Launders is ill in her home.

Mrs. H. A. Randall, president of the Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the Methodist church was hostess Thursday afternoon to members of the Home Guards of the Junior church.

The annual opening of mite boxes was held and $1.68 was the amount turned into the treasury from this source. After Mrs. Daniel Dundas, leader of group, told a number of missionary stories, the children decided to send $2 to the Ethel Harp home in Georgia and the same amount to the David and Margaret home at La Verne.

Mrs. Randall, assisted by Mrs. Dundas, served ice cream and cake at the close of the afternoon. Attending the affair were Verle and Luanna Jackson, Margaret and Grace Carey, Harold Hodson, Jean and Joan Cody and Betty Harpster.

"Never Chew Your Pills"
Spurgeon, a noted clergyman of the Victorian age, drew an apt comparison between the taking of medicine and facing the facts of everyday living when he said, "Never chew your pills."

It isn't within the limits of man to judge accurately "cause and effect," and effect follows cause just as surely as the bills come in on the first of every month. But it is within his limits to face the music—to take his dose without wincing or chewing the pills, and go on trying to make his straight line on the white page of living less like a snake fence.

Life for all of us has its monotonous routine, its disappointments, its sorrows, and its disagreeable tasks. Like the burned child we wince when we see these unpleasant experiences in the way and we make them twice as bad as they really are by FEARING them.

If we could know the far-reaching bad effects of fear on HEALTH of body and mind we would dread it far worse than the most unpleasant thing that could happen to us.

When we find ourselves reacting thus it is well for us to face the music, take our dose without chewing it, to savor its bad taste, forget it, and go on with heads up and banners flying. Life is a grand and glorious adventure if we have the courage to face facts and bend them to our advancement, but it is an awful mess if we admit it is as we liked!

TODAY'S RECIPE

Spinach Timbale
3 pounds spinach or 1 peck
Salt to season
1 cup thick cream sauce
1-2 cup beef or chicken stock
4 tablespoons butter
1 cup ground cooked meat
2 eggs, beaten separately

This is a "main dish" recipe and should be served in place of meat. Green peas, string beans or fresh asparagus go nicely with it. Potatoes may be served any way you wish, but have you ever tried mashed potatoes this way?

This is excellent for old potatoes: Cook the desired quantity, drain and mash. Heat 1-2 cup of milk with two tablespoons of butter. Add to the potatoes while whipping, season and keep hot over water. Just before serving whip one or two stiffly beaten

Graham, of Fallbrook; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fouracre and daughter, Helen, of Ocean-side; Mildred Staples, Neva McDonald, Bob Kirk and Ray Weiss, of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boosey and children, Betty and Elwood, and Junior Staples. The picnic was in observance of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Boosey.

Leell Boosey spent Sunday with Roy Whitehead. Mr. and Mrs. Al Newton spent Sunday afternoon at Newport Beach.

Mrs. Willis Mitchell, of Valencia avenue, entertained a group of friends at her beautiful ranch home here Saturday afternoon. After a delicious luncheon served at a table with decorations of yellow, pink and lavender candles, a large mixed bouquet centering the table, the group went into the living room where they spent an afternoon of cards. High score for "500" went to Mrs. Parham, second high to Mrs. Gardner and consolation to Mrs. Boosey. The prizes were attractive boxes of stationery. The guests for the afternoon were, Mrs. Eunice Gardner, Mrs. Claude Parham, Mrs. Henry Boosey, Mrs. Ray De Brouwer, Mrs. Ray Lambert, Mrs. Matheny and Mrs. Bardwell. Miss Stewart was unable to attend on account of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cady and children, Leroy and June, of San Luis Rey valley; Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Page and children, Junior, Lodema and Mary, of Tustin, and

Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Squires and two children, of Alhambra, enjoyed a picnic party at Irvine park Sunday.

A large crowd enjoyed the rabbit races at the airport Sunday morning and in the afternoon the rodeo at Irvine.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bishop and Buster Wells and Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Welch, of San Juan Capistrano, spent Sunday in Los Angeles, visiting at the home of Mr. Wells' cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Parmley.

TALBERT

TALBERT, June 4.—Commencement for the eighth grade of the Fountain Valley school is to be held Thursday evening in the school auditorium.

The president of the class is Regilio Moreno; the valedictorian, Charles Ishii; salutatorian, Emma Boer. The class colors are lavender and green; class flower, the sweet pea, and the class motto is "Built for Character and Not for Fame." In the class are the following thirteen boys and girls: Emma Boer, Fujie Kodama, Goldie Klute, Vera Klute, Miyako Neishi, Charles Ishii, Masaru Kato, Mitsuo Masuda, Refugio Moreno, George Neishi, George Okada, Lucy Rodriguez, Nellie Revere.

'BAD ONE' TO END RUN AT WEST COAST

One of the best pictures that has been seen here in the past several weeks closes a three-day run at the Fox West Coast theater today. It is "The Bad One," starring Edmund Lowe and Dolores Del Rio.

With a real plot, unusual and interesting in every stage, well directed and with the stars of "What Price Glory" again making huge successes of their roles, "The Bad One" can be jotted down as far above the usual run of pictures that are being turned out.

Love has the same type of role in "The Bad One" that he had in "What Price Glory," that of a rollicking, woman-chasing braggart, who really falls in love in this film, and who fights for his woman throughout the film.

Miss Del Rio plays the part of a dance hall girl. The remainder of the cast is particularly well balanced, including the parts played by Don Alverado, Ulrich Haupt, Mitchell Lewis, Yola D'Avril and George Fawcett.

The scenes are laid mostly in a waterfront cafe in Marseilles and in a prison on a barren island where a jailbreak has been depicted in any picture of its kind to come to Santa Ana.

A Fox Movietone news reel and an all-talking comedy together with a cartoon also are shown.

MANY GIFTS FOR CORPSE

At a funeral recently of a native near Colombo, Ceylon, friends brought many gifts to the corpse. Each had something different, including cooked meat, fruits and liquors. As the coffin was conveyed to the burial place on a huge pink and white structure resembling an ice cake, the gift-bearers accompanied it in solemn procession.

DISRAELI COMES TO WALKER TODAY

George Arliss returns to the screen of Walker's State theater today by popular request in a Vitaphone version of "Disraeli," which was produced under the supervision of several noted historians. It is a picture of dramatic power.

The story deals with an exciting episode of Disraeli's career when he had the eyes of the world on him as he succeeded in acquiring the Suez canal for England. And it is around this particular bit of political sagacity that the story of the picture "Disraeli" is woven.

Benjamin Disraeli was the first Jew to achieve the honor of becoming prime minister of England. This was in 1868, just 31 years after he made his first speech in the House of Commons. The young Disraeli, fantastically garbed, delivered that maiden speech with extravagant gestures and was greeted with derision.

The role of "Disraeli" is a splendid one for the artful George Arliss. His portrayal of this character is a distinguished one.

When Samuel Cushman was executed at Belfast, Ireland, recently, for the murder of James McCann, a postman, a crowd of women sang hymns outside the prison. The prisoner's mother, who was in the throng, fell in a swoon when the hour of execution arrived.

At the beginning of 1930 there was a total of 804,443 Bell-owned and bell-connecting telephones in the state of Michigan, an increase of approximately 30,000 during the preceding 12 months. Over these telephones there was a daily average of 3,000,000 exchange messages, while the outward toll messages for the year numbered 30,000 daily.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The big canal boat sailed along and "round about the breeze was strong and all the Tinties sat on deck where they could keep real cool. Said Scouty, "Gee, I'd never dream that any boat could climb a stream. I've always thought a ship sails on the level, as a rule."

Then Clowny said, "Oh, mercy me! You're as confusing as can be. Explain just what you mean. Then maybe I can help you out. You say this ship climbs now and then. Well, if it does, please tell us when. I'd like to watch so I'll know what it is all about."

The Travel Man then said, "Well, I can very quickly tell you why our wee friend Scouty's puzzled. We go through some locks, you see. When through the lock the ship has nosed, the entrance gates are quickly closed. And then the ship is raised up to the height it ought to be."

"The locks are filled up mighty quick. The ship goes up too, very slip. Then other gates are opened and we're on a higher stream."

"Oh, now I see," wee Scouty said. "We're lifted to a water bed that's higher. Why, that really is more simple than 'twould seem."

The boat stopped at a little town. They all got off and looked around. "Let's take a walk," one Tiny said. "We'll be here quite a while. And, while we're here we'll eat a bite. I'm sure that it will taste just right!" The very thought of eating made all of the Tinties smile.

They had their lunch and it was good. They all ate everything they could and then they walked down many streets and were not tired at all. The sights they saw brought quite a thrill and everyone was quiet till one Tiny cried, "Oh, look! I've never seen a street so small!"

(The Tinties see a queer sort of cart in the next story.) (Copyright, 1930, NEA Service, Inc.)

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE, TIE, PIE, PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

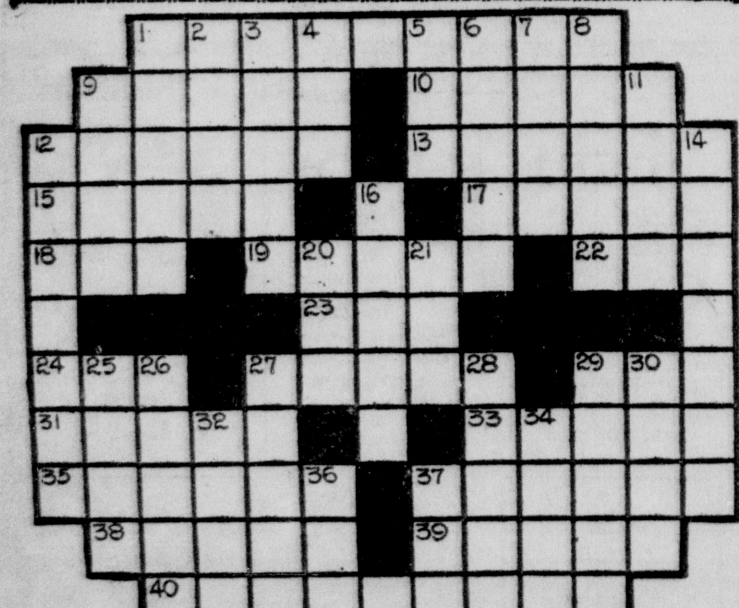

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

PRODUCE

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—(UP)—Fruit and produce moved slowly on today's market with liberal receipts in most lines and considerable stock accumulating on the hands of dealers. Soft fruits and melons continued in heavy supply with most stock of only ordinary quality. Northwestern winery apples are moving well with extra fancy bringing $2.85-3.00 per box. Watsonville Newtoms are about cleaned up and prices range from 5¢ to 6¢ per lb. Apples moved rather slowly with San Joaquin Royals bringing 4-4½¢ per lb.

The asparagus market was slightly weaker with rather slow demand. Local green bottom jobbed at 15¢ per lb. Local loose avocados are in light supply with practically all varieties jobbed at 35-40¢ per lb. Kentucky Wonder beans from San Pedro and San Diego country were in lighter supply with low movement on account of somewhat higher prices. Most stock potted at 8¢ per lb. on this morning's market with a few at 6½-7¢ and poorer 4½-5¢.

Local bunches of vegetables moved rather slowly with carrots and beets at 20-25¢ per dozen bunches. Turnips were in light supply and jobbed at 30-35¢. Local cannibal cabbage was in slow demand with prices ranging from 35-40¢ per crate, mostly from the San Diego valley. Broccoli moved slower demand and the market had a somewhat weaker tone although prices were not much affected. Standards jobbed at mostly $1.75-2.00 with poorer and softer stock $1.00-1.50.

Green corn was increasingly plentiful with local stock ranging from 75-85¢ per lug on good quality and 40-45¢ on San Diego corn. Local and San Pedro cucumbers were weaker with most sales $1.25-1.45 per lug. Best $1.00. Grapefruit was in limited supply with fancy packed local 64¢, bringing $5.25. Dry pack lettuce was in moderate supply with most stock showing considerable tipburn and slime. San Luis Obispo 48¢, free from tipburn jobbed at $2.15-2.25 per crate and stock showing tipburn from $2.00-2.25.

Local and Shafter new potatoes jobbed at 70-80¢ per lug with No. 2s at 35-40¢. Strawberries were slightly stronger with lighter receipts of northern stock, local 30-basket crates jobbed at $2.25-2.75. Tomatoes were slightly weaker with fairly good movement. Cocheila and Imperial lugs ranged from 75-90¢ with crates at 60-65¢. Imperial valley watermelons jobbed at $10-12.50 per ton with at few sales at $5.00.

CHICAGO, June 4.—(UP)—Wheat prices tumbled sharply shortly after opening on the Board of Trade today and encountered stop loss selling which sent prices still lower. There was a weak undertone to the market throughout the day and support was lacking. Local sentiment was bearish and heavy rains were reported from the northwest, both sides of the line. Corn was firm early but declined with wheat and oats followed the major grains.

At the close wheat was 2½ to 2¾c lower, corn was ¼ to ½c lower and oats ¼ to ½c lower. Provisions were steady.

Legal Notice

NOTICE OF FILING ASSESSMENT FOR THE WORK OF IMPROVEMENT ON FAIRLAWN STREET AND EIGHTH STREET, PROVIDED FOR BY RESOLUTION OF INTENTION NO. 2177, PASSED MARCH 17TH, 1930, AND OF THE TIME OF HEARING AS TO SAID WORK AND SAID ASSESSMENT.

Announcement

The undersigned, the City Clerk of the City of Santa Ana, State of California, hereby gives notice that on the 3rd day of June, 1930, the Superintendent of Streets of said City having made an assessment to cover the sum due for the work performed and specified in the contract made under proceedings for the improvement of Fairlawn Street and Eighth Street, initiated by Resolution of Intention No. 2177, passed March 17th, 1930, filed the same with me, I hereby fix June 23rd, 1930, at the hour of 7:30 o'clock P. M. as the time, and the Council Chamber of the City Hall of said City, as the place where and when all persons interested in the work done thereunder or in the said assessment will be heard by the City Council. This notice will also be published by the undersigned twice in the Santa Ana Daily Evening Register, a newspaper published in said City. The owners, contractor or his assigns, all other persons interested in the said work or in the said assessment feeling aggrieved by any act or determination of the Superintendent of Streets or the City Engineer in relation thereto, or who claim that the work has not been performed according to contract in good and substantial manner, or who claim that any portion of the work for any reason was omitted or illegally included in the contract for the same, having or making any objections to the correctness of the assessment, or to the manner of its determination, or to the proceeding of the Superintendent of Streets or City Engineer, shall prior to the day fixed for the hearing upon the assessment appeal to the City Council by briefly stating in writing the grounds of appeal.

Legal Notice

PRESERVING PUBLIC RIGHT TO THE COUNTY BEACHES

Yesterday The Register carried two letters written by a man, namely, Mr. Alfred E. Guy, who is endeavoring to preserve a certain portion of the beach to the public of Orange county as against the encroachment of certain real estate developers. It appears that this beach was decided over to the county; that there was a road that had been in use a good many years leading to it, and that now this beach, so decided, is closed from access by the public by gates and fences put up by the real estate corporation.

The writer of the letter gave the facts quite completely in The Register yesterday, and at the same time appeared before the Board of Supervisors to urge more definite action. According to reports which issued from the Board of Supervisors' meeting, the Supervisor for that district and the District Attorney were terribly angry at this man for having given the facts to the public, and not permitting the matter to be carried out as the Supervisor and the District Attorney had determined upon.

The idea of finding fault with a public citizen for letting the public know concerning a public affair! Didn't the citizen have the right to appeal to his fellow citizens? Has the record of the Board of Supervisors, and particularly Mr. Jeffrey, been so pronouncedly on behalf of the public weal in saving them taxes, as against the private interest that he could depend upon him? Mr. Guy evidently thought this was a democracy. He didn't know that in dealing with the Board of Supervisors he must do so in secret.

The District Attorney declared, so it is reported, that this paper was endeavoring "to get the Supervisor in a hole." It is exceedingly strange that a single individual cannot come before the Board of Supervisors and ask protection for a beach that has been deeded to the public, and The Register publish the letter, without such charges by the District Attorney. We take it as a great compliment that without any knowledge or investigation or consideration on the part of the District Attorney or Mr. Jeffrey; it is presumed at once that The Register is for the public beach, for its preservation, and for any effort that is being put forth for its preservation. We are glad that we have this reputation, but frankly, we had supposed that the District Attorney and the Supervisor for that district were just as heartily in accord with the efforts of this Mr. Guy to preserve this beach front as Mr. Guy was or as The Register could be.

But now it appears that the District Attorney is arguing against the legality of the transfer of the property to the county, declaring that the man who purported to be the president of the company deeding it was not president at the moment of its signing. The Supervisor for the district said: "Mr. Guy probably didn't know what the Supervisors had done; that they had turned it over to the Superintendent of highways, Nat Neff, and Judge Drumm, to investigate the situation." Judge Drumm is the attorney for the real estate people who have closed it up. We would suggest that this was hardly a fair and well balanced committee to investigate a proposition in which the public had such a deep interest.

It seems now that it is proposed that a "friendly" suit be instituted as to adjudicate the rights—a "friendly" suit with the private parties determined to get the property on the one side, and the representatives of the county angry at the man who has started the matter for the people's rights, and particularly because he has brought the facts out to the light of day, and with these same representatives of the county urging technical objections to the rights of the county on the other hand. We have a picture of what such a "friendly" suit is likely to result in, unless the representatives of the county change their mind, or something more radical is done.

The Register cannot put any official "in a hole." It may call attention through its news columns and editorials to the "hole" that the politician has placed himself in, and the only way he can do it is by taking up the side of the private interest against the public interest.

We are happy, however, to note that the officials recognize when these things are being done, even though they only consider it in terms of the publication of the facts by a newspaper.

A newspaper editorial asks what has become of the custom in boxing circles of awarding the championship belt to the heavyweight king. Judging from recent championship affairs it would seem most of the contestants really are below the belt.

THE PASSING OF COLLEGE SPORTS

Time was when college baseball had the place in public interest which is now held by football. The games between the large universities of the East and West were national events. Who hears anything about baseball in college life now? The bleachers and the grandstand at the Harvard-Yale games are almost deserted these days. And this is true of all college baseball games. Track events still hold some interest, but even they are patronized only by a very small group of the students. And as for the alumni, they have no interest at all in these sports worth noting. There are those who already see the waning of football, which they believe is the next to go. Then what will become of the great stadiums that have been erected in so many of the great universities?

In all this there is little that calls for regret. The intramural sports, which are assuming so much larger place in college life, really fit in more with the physical training of all the students. The great spectacles which drew many thousands to the stadiums created a false hero worship. It dwarfed the more legitimate phases of college life. There was nothing in these sports that really added to college life for the great mass of the students. It was a waste of energy for the few. It created difficulties for the college authorities. It had a corrupting influence upon many athletic students who sold themselves to the highest college bidder. It was rapidly degenerating into professionalism in all but name.

We are sure that college life will lose nothing from the change, and that it may gain a great deal. The spectacular will go, but the physical upbuilding of the many is much better than the most arresting spectacle.

IOWA POLITICS

L. J. Dickinson, the man who won the nomination for United States Senator from Iowa, is proclaimed to be a political friend of Brookhart, and this vote in Iowa is therefore supposed to be a victory for Brookhart. The candidate for Governor is also a Brookhart man. In fact, dispatches from Washington declare that this rivets Senator Brookhart as the real power in Iowa politics.

It is difficult enough to get politics at long distance. One cannot understand from this distance how a victory for a man who made his campaign on behalf of the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill can be considered a victory for Senator Brookhart, who has been fighting the Smoot-Hawley bill with all his power. It may be, however, that on other things these men line up together. But one would suppose that on the main issue before Congress they would be united.

Certainly the Iowa farmers are in favor of the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill. That issue was fought out clearly between the successful and the unsuccessful candidate for the United States Senate, the city going very largely against the candidate who won; the farmer vote going very largely for him.

Senator Brookhart, who was given credit for this victory can probably take a great deal of satisfaction out of it, for he was read out of the Republican party for following LaFollette six years ago. The Senate then turned him down in a contest, and his seat in the United States Senate was given to his opponent. He went back and was re-elected and now is going on with a vengeance. It is a remarkable condition of affairs.

An Amiable Desertion

San Diego Union

Well, what of it? Eleven Denver women have forsaken home and fireside for a week of congenial idling, far from the responsibilities of husbands, children, meals and general housekeeping, and the Associated Press rightly regards the episode of "news." It represents woman's revolt against her traditional sphere—with woman, in this case, doing something about it. It is quite unusual. But should it be?

An institution founded upon strict routine is bound to be unstable. Witness Mr. Ford's labor turn-over, and the emphasis put on sports and other interruptions of routine in the army and navy. All too frequently the American home offers its women-folk security, domesticity and reasonable comfort only at the price of binding them to a routine. It is quite likely that this price impairs the value of what it buys and undermines the permanence of the institution which offers it. A revolt now and again is undoubtedly a contribution to the safety of any household; and if the revolt can be arranged pleasantly, calmly and with an absence of ill feeling, so much the better.

The married American male revolts against his home when he gathers with cronies at luncheon, when he indulges in a game of billiards, when he goes fishing, when he golfs, or when he sinfully stays up clicking poker chips 'til 3 o'clock in the morning. The American housewife revolts far less frequently—not frequently enough, it is probable. And another reason for favoring anything the American housewife wants to do, is that there is so little use in arguing against it.

Pranks of the Campus

New York Times

The class of 1930 in America is apparently going to contribute a good deal to the variety of life in this country. Recent activities of these undergraduates suggest that. The college yield of 1930 will apparently specialize in gawdy and bizarre imagination. In no recent spring have the colleges furnished so much news of a certain sort.

Dartmouth, where students suddenly appeared in a weird species of "shorts" as a protest against formal fashion, began it. Then the sacred words of the Harvard Lampoon disappeared. Though a copy of The Yale Record was found in its place, the 1930 has not been recovered for Cambridge. Perhaps mourning over this was responsible for publications in "Lampy" about Mayor Curley of Boston, which brought from him the threat of a libel action and retraction from the young jesters.

The spirit spread to the heights by Cayuga's waters, where a solemn banquet, given in the name of a fictitious Republican stalwart of long ago, drew telegrams from the great of the party at Washington extolling the life and works of the non-existent "Hugo N. Frye of Elmira." Throughout the prankish cycle the Spring "rushes" took on vigorous aspects of mayhem, exceeding any in the memory of campus policemen.

Humor is sometimes said to be at a low ebb in this country, and the 1930 collegians have not done much to raise it. But they are certainly working at the job.

Gold Star Pilgrimage Is a Wistful Errand

San Francisco Chronicle

That is a wistful pilgrimage of the American Gold Star Mothers to the battlefields of France. Eleven years is not a long time for a mother to remember. Fresh in each heart is the pride and the tragedy of that day when the boy marched away. Fresher perhaps the awful hour when hope ceased and each mother knew the cost of her sacrifice on the altar of her country.

It took real courage for those mothers to make the tour. Yet to each it was a privilege, a pride and an assuagement. To have looked on the historic scenes of the heroism of their sons, perhaps to have viewed the turf above the beloved dead, these experiences will remain as sacred memories.

The Nation which sent the Gold Star Mothers abroad shares their pride and their grief though only motherhood can plumb the full depths of either.

Doing Her Mending!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

TADPOLES—AND OTHERS

Observe the tiny tadpole's face,
It wears a sullen pout;
Despite the lithe and easy grace
With which he swims about.
He'd rather shrill an evening song
Upon a sodden log
And he's unhappy, all day long,
Because he's not a frog.

It must be fine, he seems to think,
To live on land and water,
As does a muskrat or a mink,
A turtle or an otter.
It seems to him too long to wait—
A dreary age for him—
Till he shall grow to frog's estate
And hop as well as swim.

But when a frog at last he grows;
Upon a lily pad
He sits and croaks about his woes
In solemn tones and sad.
No joy or beauty can he see
In swamp or bog and fen,
And earnestly he longs to be
A tadpole once again.

Alas, so runs this life away;
Boys hunger to be men,
And men before their hair is gray
Would fain be boys again.
All mortals—even you and me—
Lift up the same old plaint.
For everything we want to be
Is something that we ain't.

OF NO CONSEQUENCE

The new flag pole in Madison Square is not to be a memorial to Tammany. But good Tammany men claim that the whole town is its memorial.

Guilt-Edge Insecurities

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Unemployment last winter cost us—you and me and all the rest of us—much less than it might have cost us. That was because a lot of little dollars went to market.

But unemployment cost us a lot more than it should have cost us. That was because too many little dollars stayed at home.

Many of the little dollars that went to market were corporation dollars. They knew where they were going, and how important it was to get there in a hurry.

Many of the little dollars that stayed at home were family dollars. They had conscientious scruples about going to market on a rainy day!

The little dollars that went to market got busy and made jobs. The little dollars that stayed at home got sleeping sickness and made trouble.

The little corporation dollars that went to market had various motives. Some of them were soldiers going to the front. Some of them went because they wanted to be where there was something going on. Some of them went because they believed Mr. Hoover knew what he was talking about when they all made jobs!

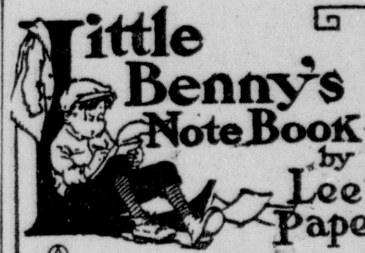

Some family dollars went to market, too. Some for no higher motive than "keeping up with the Joneses." But even these low-minded dollars made jobs.

The only dollars that made trouble were the ones that hung back with the Groans!

Corporation dollars have built the trenches and dug in. But they will have to be reinforced—and strongly reinforced—by family dollars. Let us, even when business is sinking, save what we ought to save. But let us spend what we can afford to spend.

The little dollars we send promptly to market, when markets are low in spirits, bring us gilt-edge economic securities. The little dollars we keep fearfully at home net us gilt-edge insecurities.

Pop was smoking with his feet up, and ma sed, Well Willyum, I have some news for you, and I know you'll be delighted.

That's good, pop sed. Next to being overjoyed I love to be delighted, he sed, and ma sed, Its about Madam Seero and naming the baby. Gladis and I went for the final seance this afternoon, and this time the spirits seemed to be in the most obliging mood possible. Madam Seero's eyes seemed to pierce rite through the locked box like lightning out of an X-ray machine, and she called out names from the list in many a succession until she had called out every single name, but she sed the spirits didn't seem to respond to any of them, and to tell the truth when they were called out like that in cold blood no one of them seemed good enough for the baby, and suddenly Madam Seero sed, Hold, pause, I seem to see a name that's not on the list, but so far it is shrouded in mist, there seems to be a face in front of it, the intelligent face of a man with a little mustash and practically no other hair. That almost answers to my own description, the intelligent part is perfect, pop sed, and ma sed, That's just the point, she must of ment you, because immediately afterwards she sed, Now I see the name, the name is Willyum.

You amaze me, pop sed, and ma sed, Well just listen to the sequel that followed. As soon as she had pronounced the name Willyum there was a sudden sound in the air like the ringing of little bells, and Madam Seero sed, The spirits are speaking, if the preordained name is Willyum let them speak again. And low and behold the bells rang even harder, so the child's name is to be Willyum, and now what do you think of Madam Seero?

If you had been in my place I'm sure you would of been just suspicious enough to think she knew you all the time and was just pretending, ma sed.

I assure you on my solemn oath that I now have complete confidants in Madam Seero, pop sed.

And he winked at me and I winked back. Us 2 being the only ones that knew the details.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

THE NEW EDUCATION—LAW THREE

This week I getting down some of the laws that seem to me to underlie a thoroughly modern education, discussing one of these laws each day.

The first law, discussed Monday, is that we learn by action rather than by absorption; the second law, discussed Tuesday, is that learning is specific rather than general.

The third law is that the best things to study at any given time are the things that are most important to our life and work at that particular period.

The old education went on the assumption that youth was the time to pile up the knowledge a man would need later.

Education was the enterprise of laying a stock of ideas on which to do business as an adult.

Now and then it did occur to some teachers that it was asking a good deal to expect young minds to be thrilled by problems they would not face for ten or fifteen years, but this did not, until more or less lately, suggest any radical educational reforms, because we were still under the delusion that youth is incomparably the time to learn.

We dedicated youth to learning. We dedicated the adult years to action. And we have paid the price by rearing a generation that so often acts without thinking.

Once again psychological research has blown an aged educational theory out of the water.

Thanks to E. L. Thorndike, whose researches in the learning habits of young and old I have summarized in this column, we now know that we can learn as adults just as well as we can learn in our childhood.

So often we wonder why college students, in the midst of wrestling with the serious issues of science and government which are puzzling the adult world, lead such pointless lives outside the class room. Some day we shall see college students acting in a wholly different manner, if we act in the light of this third law of learning, and realize that what youth needs most to study are the things that will enable them to be intelligent youths, instead of allowing them to be unintelligent youths studying things to make them intelligent adults.

When youth spends all its time studying adult problems, it forgets by adult years, what it has learned.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE RETICENT 'TEENS

Young people in their teens keep themselves to themselves a great deal.

"My boy and girl used to tell me everything. Now they tell me only what I pick out of them."

"Don't try to pick anything out of them. That is one reason that they refuse to talk. They feel spied upon. They feel that the grownups are prying into their affairs so as to criticize them."

"I used to tell my mother and father everything I did but I learned better. Every time I told them anything they said, 'Don't ever do such a thing again.' They're so scared of every little thing. You can't do anything if you listen to them. Best way is not to tell them."

"Yeh," said Bill. "You 'member when we hooked a ride into town that day to see the President at the station?"

"And climbed up the telegraph pole to see good—"

"And got that hitch home from the truckdriver—"

"And got stuck in the hollow and had to be pulled out—"

"And you lost your cap."

"Yeh, and you and me washed the car to pay for the ride and the man gave us a sandwich and a cup of coffee. Good skate he was. And couldn't he swear?"

Well, I told the folks all about what we did that day and you know what? They wouldn't let me outside the yard for a week.

Ma was scared to death that something might happen to me. She said, 'Keep on like that an' you'll be a regular good-for-nothing tramp. Begging rides and associating with anybody that comes along on the road. How'd you know but that they might have been bootleggers in that truck?"

Gee, maybe they were. We got the ride all right and we got a good look at the President. Wonder how you get to be President?"

"Oh, you go round and meet a lot of people and make speeches from the rear-end car and people get to know about you and all the things you think would be good for the country and the like of that, and then they vote for you and you're the President."

"I'd like to be it."

"So'd I. But gosh, if you can't go out to see anything, how're you going to be it?"

"Best way is not to tell anybody you're going to be it. Then they can't stop you. Keep your business to yourself like I do."

"Yeh. It's the same with girls. If they see me speaking to a girl, even if I've known her since we're born, they say, 'Huh. Getting in with the girls, are you? You keep away from there and tend to your own business. Stead of getting forty in algebra keep away from the girls and do a little studying.' As if that was anything."

"Isn't it so? The least little thing you do,—blump,—and they're on your neck."

"Yeh. Best thing to do is not to tell them anything. Then they can't say anything. Wonder if there's anything doing down at the freight? Slim's horses are coming in tonight. Let's go. I like horses. If I'd a horse—"

Listen and enjoy the children and guard against too much anxiety or they will protect themselves in reticence.

CHAMBERLIN'S FLIGHT

On June 4, 1927, Clarence Chamberlin left New York for his non-stop trans-Atlantic flight to Germany with Charles A. Levine, owner of the plane, as passenger and assistant pilot.

Several hundred miles at sea the flyers encountered sleet and hail through which they moved for 12 hours. By the time they reached the English channel the weather was so bad that they subsequently lost their way over Belgium and Holland.

They succeeded again in finding their way to Germany. Pursuing a course which they believed was in the direction of Berlin, the flyers brought the Columbia within a few hundred feet of earth to pass a field where farmhands were at work. These laborers shouted to them, giving them the direction of Berlin. By this time the gasoline was running low and when, a few minutes later, Chamberlin saw what appeared to be a good landing field he made a perfect descent at the outskirts of Elsleben, the town in which Martin Luther was born. The flyers had traversed 4000 miles and had remained in the air 44 hours. During the flight Levine occasionally relieved Chamberlin, but neither obtained more than a few moments' sleep.

BETTER STILL

A small boy was watching a bright glow in the sky with the utmost delight.

"I am glad you admire the beauties of Nature, my son," said an old gentleman. "Isn't it a lovely sunset?"

"That's not a sunset," replied the boy with a grin. "That's our school on fire."—Montreal Standard.
